New contracts for new marbles thou dost make,
But thou art near thy wake.
Thou build'st afresh, unheeding of the tomb;
Throw'st back, for wider room,
Those rippled banks by the soft Baian sea,
Not wide enough for thee.

Birthday Greetings!!

ANOTHER year is with us, and so another anniversary for Kappa Alpha Theta. Throughout the United States and Canada chapters, both college and alumnae, as well as many clubs and smaller Theta groups, will plan celebrations in recognition of the founding of our fraternity, January 27, 1870.

At this time let every member, with pride and affection, renew her pledge of loyalty and devotion to Theta ideals. Kappa Alpha Theta has fine ambitions as an organization to train its members for usefulness in a world that is in need of capable, well-poised, educated women. Let us show our gratitude to Kappa Alpha Theta for the development which is ours through fraternity experience, by upholding its ideals and traditions, thereby exemplifying its principles in our every day life.

JEANETTE GRASSETT

Convention Year Is Here

ONE CANNOT have viewed the academic scene as long as I have without feeling a sense of confusion—hopeful confusion, to be sure, the hope being provided by the obvious earnestness and purpose of the educational leaders. That there are cross purposes and that the leaders are being earnest about vastly different theories does not obscure the general truth that the aim is toward effective and wise action.

The college fraternity is in many ways a help toward this general aim, and to my mind none of its phases is more far reaching than national conventions. In this function every member can fulfill her two greatest hopes for herself—that she may be useful and that she may be happy. Her participation in the molding and management of the fraternity is the privilege of a useful member. In Kappa Alpha Theta the entire ultimate control of the fraternity is vested in the convention. The meeting calls for all the talents and vision which members have. Their social consciousness has full scope for expression and action in the many activities which come up for revaluation and reorganization. This is the time when the lives of several thousand college girls is given form, inspiration and general direction. What more significant opportunity to be useful?

And to be happy. Of course, being useful is a help toward that; to some people it is sine qua non. To most of us, however, physical activity, laughter, interesting environment and a sense of being among friends may be added with delight to the self respect which useful occupation creates. A Theta convention is definitely a happy occasion. To tell the truth, it is so gay that you are practically on the train going home before you realize that you have been part of a good piece of work, and that you have had the time of your life.

(To the Editor—If the above profession of faith does not seem to you relevant, omit and proceed with the facts and figures below.)

The thirty-third grand convention of Kappa Alpha Theta will meet June 25-July

1 in the Essex and Sussex hotel, Spring Lake Beach, New Jersey. Spring Lake is seventy miles south of New York, just below Asbury Park, and is an old, exclusive and admittedly quiet summer place. The Coney Island sort of thing is sternly forbidden the premises, but one can walk or ride to Ocean Park if bent on that kind of frivolity.

The Essex and Sussex is within less miles of more Thetas than almost any other spot on the American continent, but that is not the only reason we chose it for the meeting. It is also exactly the right size for a Theta house party. The whole place will be ours—a glorified national chapter house. The hotel is right on the ocean. We will have our own sandy beach, generously furnished with umbrellas and life guards, and our own salt water for three miles out. We will have our own segment of that characteristic Jersey phenomenon—a Boardwalk. We can walk for blocks above the white beach without so much as a grain of sand spilling over into our best shoes. Back of the hotel there is a lake. You probably canoe on it, but it also makes scenery for the horseback riding and reflects the sunset glow.

There is a beautiful garden in the hotel courtyard, good tennis courts and many card tables, so that a good deal of relaxing can be done right on the premises. Those with no sense of daring or duty can spend their time between events just eating. You couldn't imagine a better place to do it. The dining room is bound to become a rallying spot.

The convention hotel rate is $7 to $8 a day. This includes all handling of baggage, round trip motor transportation from train to hotel, garage storage for cars, as well as a good many other incidentals. It is a very good rate for the time, place, and first class service. As individuals, it would cost us $9 to $12.

There are good horses and good golf

1938 CONVENTION HEADQUARTERS

The Essex & Sussex, its board walk and beach and the Atlantic Ocean.

available at reasonable cost. Arrangements will be made for these at the hotel, as well as for all sorts of special expeditions by motor. One day of the convention program is left entirely free for outside activities and on that day opportunity will be given to drive down the shore to Atlantic City and to nearby historic sites.

Arrangements are being made so that Thetas coming from all directions may join each other for the train trip to Spring Lake. Most of us who come from the west can meet in Chicago to take a special train on the Baltimore and Ohio which will leave about 3:30 P.M. June 23. It will be a "de luxe" train, as they say in railroad circles. The menus in the dining cars will be marked with our crest as well as fitted to our purses. There will be an elegant lounge car for large, singing crowds of us, the use of both dressing rooms in the Pullmans, and all of this will be nice and cool on a hot summer day. The families of Thetas are welcome to come along with them. Arrangements will be made to take reservations including men into one special Pullman.

The train will arrive in Washington the morning of June 24. There we have planned a most comprehensive (and exhausting!) day of sightseeing and entertainment. Nobody who ever went to Washington for one day will have done and seen as much as the Kappa Alpha Thetas! The whole town, by motor, in the morning and the surrounding countryside (Mt. Vernon, Alexandria, Arlington, the tomb of the Unknown Soldier, etc.) in the afternoon. Lunch will be at some interesting place and dinner and the evening with the Washington Thetas. Detailed schedule of this stop will appear in the next issue of the magazine. So far, we have secured a rate of $3.75 for bus transportation that costs an individual $5.

Thetas who come to convention via St. Louis will have their own Pullmans and will arrive in Washington at the same time as the Theta Special. They will be included in all plans for the Grand Tour, as will the visitors from south of Washington, as well as all others who arrive that morning.

From Washington, the Special will run down to Spring Lake during the night, delivering us at the Essex and Sussex in time for breakfast June 25.

One of the features that has come to be almost as much a part of convention as the meeting itself are the group after-convention trips. So far, there have been arranged two very good ones. One of them takes a boat up to New York the morning of July 1, sailing the full length of the harbor to 42d street. There we are met by busses and taken on an extensive tour of both upper and lower New York City, delivered to our hotel, and later given a personally conducted tour of Rockefeller center and the National broadcasting studios. The cost for two nights in the hotel, the bus trips and the Radio City tours will be about $10 for this Theta party, a substantial reduction from individual purchase of the same thing. The second day in New York is left free for visits to the Metropolitan museum, Planetarium, shopping, or what have you. The third day west bound passengers may exchange their rail tickets for one on the Hudson river day boat to Albany, a lovely ride, and transfer there to a train for Niagara Falls, where the fourth day is spent seeing the sights together before disbanding to go separate ways. One may decide to take only the first day's party, and may continue at the hotel under the party rate. All details and choices will be outlined in March.

The second post-convention trip arranged will take the train back to Baltimore, where there will be a sightseeing expedition around the city and over to Annapolis. In the evening an Old Bay Line boat for Norfolk, Virginia, will be boarded for a sail down the bay, with dinner and breakfast on the ship. At Norfolk we will be met by our own busses which will take us on an interesting day of sightseeing—through Jamestown and Yorktown to Williamsburg. Now Williamsburg, in its restored and reconstructed glory, seems to me the most interesting American work of art, and one could stay there for a week, but on this trip we shall have to content ourselves with a long afternoon and evening, with lunch, dinner, and the night at the lovely Williamsburg Inn.

The next morning the busses will drive through Tidewater Virginia stopping at Stafford, the old Lee estate, Wakefield, birthplace of George Washington, Fredricksburg, with its many historic sites and on into Washington in the early evening, where the return rail tickets begin again to operate. This trip is taking so much special arrangement that the cost has not been worked out, but it will be around $25 (excluding meals) and will be a unique opportunity. It is only on chartered busses that these interesting stops can be made, unless one wishes to stay in each place until the next day.

If prospective convention travellers wish to have a Virginia trip like this after they have been up to New York, it can be arranged provided there are enough of you and that we know your wishes beforehand. Also other party trips at reduced rates and favorable schedules can be planned if you express a desire for them. Write Mrs Yale B. Huffman, 349 N. 35th Avenue, Omaha, Nebraska, your suggestions on this, or any other convention management plans.

The March magazine will carry detailed train schedules, reservation blanks, and all sorts of directions. But be saving your money in the meantime.

I have had a thoroughly good time just writing this copy. I think of hundreds of us working and playing together under really choice conditions. Those conditions will have a stimulating, liberating effect on us and this next convention of Kappa Alpha Theta will be one of the significant moments of our history.

Alumnæ Group News

Buffalo alumnæ: At the December meeting Christmas posters were made for the children's ward of one of the city's hospitals. New members are being enrolled as more Thetas come to live in the city.

Billings alumnæ club reports a growing membership and a most successful fall campaign for the Magazine agency project. Early in September they entertained at luncheon girls of the city, who were to enter the University of Montana or out of state colleges that month.

New Orleans alumnæ: Talented members entertained at the first two meetings: there was a talk on a trip to Italy, and a musical program. At a meeting conference with Mrs Quillian, District president, plans were made for a closer relationship with Alpha Phi chapter.

Westchester alumnæ club: This club is starting its sixth year, with a potential membership of more than 100. Each town in the county, and also nearby Connecticut towns, has a town chairman, whose duty it is to notify all Thetas in her district of the three regular meetings each winter. In towns where there are many Thetas, there are also group meetings. Meetings are purely social, supplemented by a Scholarship bridge, receipts from which go to the Loan and fellowship fund. In October the club joined New York alumnæ chapter at a luncheon to meet Grand council in the vicinity for National Panhellenic. Thetas new in the neighborhood are invited to join the club by writing Mrs Dale Hawkins, 55 Maplewood st. Larchmont, N.Y.

New York alumnæ: Graciously this chapter invited the Thetas of all the metropolitan area to join in their October meeting, a beautiful buffet luncheon honoring Grand council (in New York for National Panhellenic) at the lovely home of Adele Johnson Wilputte in New Rochelle. There were 120 Thetas at this party. After lunch each member of Grand council spoke briefly of the work she supervises and reported interesting features of the congress of National Panhellenic which had closed at noon that day. A supper meeting in November and a Christmas party, with an interesting report from Mary Tom Osborne, Hannah Fitch Shaw fellow, brought the year to a close.

Los Angeles alumnae sent out a two page mimeographed letter in September setting forth the year's versatile plans. The first meeting at Beta Xi's chapter house, had as guest Rosa Parsons, Jane Spalding fellow. The next meeting at Omicron's chapter house was to demonstrate the "Art of make up." Desserts and teas alternate on the year's program, with a Benefit bridge tea in November.

Welcome to the two new clubs—Ohio Valley and London, Ontario! Greetings and congratulations to the three revived clubs—Ft Collins, Muncie, Waterloo.

A Hint to Thetas in a Strange Town

SHE HAD BEEN an active member of Milwaukee alumnae chapter from its installation. She moved to a city in another state, where she had no acquaintances at all.

She sent her new address to Central office, and asked if there was a Theta alumnae club near her new home city, and for the names of Thetas who might be living in that city. Not being familiar with the state's geography, Central office sent her a list of all Theta clubs in the state, and of the Thetas resident in her new home city.

Within two weeks came a letter saying—"The Theta list was very revealing, as I discovered that the mother of my small son's best friend is a Theta. I think I have her worked up to the point of maybe organizing a Theta club here. We will try to get the group together sometime between Christmas and New Years."

How many Thetas moving into new cities will take similar initiative for the fraternity? We hope many. We congratulate Kappa Alpha Theta on having such an effectively loyal member as Mrs Dietrich, whom we here salute.

Vocational Data

The ability of American women to achieve success in any calling is demonstrated in the pages of American women, the who's who of feminine leaders of the country, second edition published in 1937. The new edition, edited by Durward Howes, has biographies of 7,851 women, chosen from 22,000 names submitted for consideration.

Concise, inclusive sketches give information as to date and place of birth, parentage, education, marriage, children, occupation, political and religious preference, memberships, outstanding achievements, and address. A statistical summary analyses this information and offers a bird's-eye view of trends and tendencies among women.

Birth dates range from 1842 to 1922, 80 years, but the greatest number of these successful women were born in 1890.

"Startling indeed," said the editor, "is the revelation that more than 39% of the married women have no children, 28% have one child; only one of the 3,339 matrons listed has a dozen children, once not considered an unusually large family."

Occupations represented run from accountant to zoologist. The nation's only woman foreign minister, Florence Jaffray Harriman, has a place in the book, along with two United States senators, six congresswomen, and a Cabinet official. A special section lists Anna Eleanor Roosevelt, Lou Henry Hoover and the widows of six other former presidents of the United States. There are 26 judges and 254 lawyers.

Music, gardening, and reading are the most popular hobbies, but a few expressed a preference for such leisure time activities as wood carving and copying old epitaphs. As a favorite sport, walking received the greatest number of votes, with horseback riding next in favor.

Forewords by Martha Berry, educator, Linda Eastman, librarian, Lillian M. Gilbreth, consulting engineer, Roberta Lawson, president of the General federation of women's clubs, Frances Marion, motion picture producer, Emily Post, manners mentor, President Aurelia Henry Reinhardt of Mills college, and June Hamilton Rhodes, New York stylist and business executive, contain both tributes and challenges to the women of present-day America. Writes Mrs Gilbreth: "We need . . . experience in group activity, so that we can help contribute to family life and to the larger social groups. If we can develop happy, effective women who can follow real leadership and assume leadership, we should be able to make a real and cumulative contribution."

A Poetic Genre

(Extracts from a report of Kappa Alpha Theta's Hannah Fitch Shaw fellow, Mary Tom Osborne)

LEAVING San Antonio July 23, I sailed for England August 18, after spending the intervening time at the Library of Congress, the New York public library and the libraries of Yale and Harvard, the library staffs of which were most accommodating and helpful. Not expecting to find much beyond what I already knew about, to my great surprise and delight first hand use of these libraries yielded some interesting and valuable additions to my study.

The most exciting finds were—a first edition of Busenello's La prospettiva, the Italian poem which started the English fad of instructing painters; the original broadsides of three poems which I had seen only in later editions; manuscript copies of the four Advice to a painter poems attributed to Sir John Denham, and of one attributed to Andrew Marvell; and five other poems not known to me before. I examined all available editions of poems of which I already had copies, discovering extremely interesting pencil and ink notations. I also found seven poems which, though not exactly in the Advice to a painter pattern, are definitely related to it.

In London I studied at the British Museum until October 1, a profitable and enjoyable time in spite of certain drawbacks. There was no heat in the building at that time and the library was so cold that I kept on my hat, a heavy coat, and one glove! (One hand had to be free to take notes.) Another condition both here and at the Bodleian later was the slowness of book delivery, from one to two hours would elapse after a request was filed before the books would be delivered to one. I learned to request books far ahead of the time I would need them. These delays are understandable when one realizes that many of the books are stored far from the reading rooms.

It was a joy to have access to the wonderful rare books, papers, and manuscripts in the Museum library. I had barely "dipped" into these vast researches, when the library was closed for three weeks of repair and I went on to Oxford.

In the Museum my most interesting discoveries were—three broadsides of a poem for which I had been searching for two years, the only one of Mr Ebsworth's list of twenty that I had not seen; two others in the pattern, not known to me before; ten poems closely related to the pattern. I found an imperfect copy of The good old cause revived and from my perfect photostat copy of the Harvard broadside, I was able to supply the British Museum with the missing lines.

And now for Oxford and the Bodleian! I am working on my research in the Bodleian and have paid the required fees to attend these lectures. Monday—Professor Wyld, Introduction to the history of English, and English of Milton and his age (second class on Tuesday); Professor Nichol Smith, Dryden. Tuesday—Mr Abercrombie, Shakespeare; Mr Brett-Smith, Restoration drama (also on Thursday). Wednesdays—Mr. Abercrombie, Aristotle's Poetica; Mr Lewis, Some modern critics. Fridays—Dr Onions, Foreign elements in English before 1400; Sir Edmund Chambers' four lectures on Shakespeare, to which admitted by special permission of Sir Edmund.

Between lectures and research I am busy indeed.

In the Bodleian I have found already four new poems in the genre; ten new poems closely related to the pattern; and a manuscript copy of Advice to a carver, which had had the title cut off, and the pages out of order, it having been entered in the manuscript table of contents by its supposed first line, which is really from the middle of the poem, facts verified by the photostat copy I had of the only other copy of the poem known to me.

The Bodleian librarians are most pleasant. I have been given permission to examine the Sir Charles Firth collection, acquired recently and as yet uncatalogued and not in general use.

I am enjoying England and my study here more than it is possible to tell you, having met many interesting people and had many delightful experiences. I should like to thank Kappa Alpha Theta again for making this year possible for me.

Come to District VII

Virginia Davis Boyce, president of District VII, writes the following words of welcome to all Thetas who will be convention-bound in June. After struggling with her parentheses at some length, we were unable to decide whether she meant them as off-side remarks to the editor or not, so we left them all in except the last one, which was carefully marked "Not for publication, of course. Finis."

BELIEVE it or not, Mr Ripley"—but Grand convention time is here again, bringing with it so many pleasant recollections that chills literally run up and down the spine of every Theta lucky enough to have attended one. Conventions have been held in the west, north, south, northwest, and almost every point on the compass—except the east and District VII. (Perhaps it would be better to say "for years conventions have been held," etc. because I guess there was one at Lake Placid once, wasn't there?) But this year we are the lucky ones, and to say that we welcome you one and all would not half express how glad we will be to see you at the Essex and Sussex in Spring Lake, New Jersey, in June.

We cannot, of course, offer you the gorgeous surroundings of Glacier park, but for those who have never seen the Atlantic ocean sparkle in the sunlight of a June day, or plunged into its surf, and, caught by a wave, been dizzily swirled around in it, or been lulled to sleep by the swishing of its waves on the beach—for you, there is a real treat in store. Perhaps you like golf and tennis, too—there will be plenty of both—or, if you are not athletically inclined, there will be the fun of stretching out lazily in the warm sun on the smooth sands, getting that coat of tan that proves so convincingly that you have been on a vacation.

We hope most sincerely that you will come. Perhaps you have been to Theta conventions in the sunny south, and the wild and woolly west, and the frozen north, and if so, we hope you won't leave out the conservative (or is there another word more typical?) east. And if you haven't, we hope you will start the good habit this time.

District VII is thrilled to have the opportunity of returning the hospitality so graciously extended to it by other districts in times past, and offers to each and every one of you a warm and hearty welcome.

VIRGINIA DAVIS BOYCE,
President of District VII

Panhellenic Afar

THIS PAST week we have made an attempt to bring all college fraternity women in the Philippines into a Panhellenic organization—object at present, social—later philanthropy perhaps. At the opening tea there were 74 present—Kappa Alpha Theta having the banner representation—14. Election was by ballot with no fraternity designation and Theta again came to the front and center with presidency, secretary, treasurer, and one of three members-at-large. One of the Thetas will write an account of the meeting as a news item for the magazine.

Scholarship Honors, 1936-37, Won by Thetas

FORTY-FIVE Thetas won election to Phi Beta Kappa last year, and 18 made Phi Kappa Phi. On other pages are pictures of 38 Phi Beta Kappas and 11 Phi Kappa Phis.

Of Phi Beta Kappas, Lambda had four, one a faculty member; Chi, Beta Kappa, and Beta Rho had three; nine chapters had a pair apiece; and 14 chapters had one each. Of Phi Kappa Phis, Gamma had five; Beta Mu had three; three chapters had two each; and four had one each.

The honor of election of both Phi Beta Kappa and Phi Kappa Phi came to Marjorie Frick, Chi, and June Gay, Alpha Sigma.

Seven Phi Beta Kappas for whom we had no pictures are Jean Russell, Kappa; Katherine Babbitt, Lambda; Alice Church, Mu; Ruth Neupert Henderson, Phi; Elizabeth Lloyd White, Alpha Delta; Betsy Tuthill, Beta Delta; and Frances Childs, Beta Rho. Seven unpictured Phi Kappa Phis are Mary Vance Trent, Marilyn Knauss, Betty Lutz, Betty Davenport, and Betty Frazer, Gamma; Judith Schafer, Alpha Sigma; and Jane Shaw, Beta Pi.

Other scholarship honors at 27 colleges:

ADELPHI: Ruth Schlobohm, magna cum laude.

ARIZONA: Anna Jane Hill and Muriel Kerby, senior class honors; Betsy Carson passed bar exam; Betty Bolton, highest freshman average in college of music; Phoebe Peyton, Randall Foster, Caroline Gill, freshman honors.

Thetas in the News

Alumni Honor Bettie Locke Hamilton, '71

Another link in DePauw's great chain of fine traditions was forged on the night of October 30 when Mrs Bettie Locke Hamilton of the class of 1871, the only survivor of the first four coeds to enroll when Indiana Asbury university became coeducational in 1871, was presented with the Centennial armlet as the oldest living woman graduate.

The armlet was provided by the DePauw alumni association and will take its place along with the Goodwin memorial cane. It will pass in succession to the oldest living alumna just as the cane is passed to the oldest living man graduate.

The armlet was made especially for the occasion. It is a wide band of gold in the center of which is mounted a black onyx stone. Surmounting the onyx is a gold seal of the university. Engraved on one side are these words:

"Presented by the DePauw alumni association to the oldest living woman graduate, centennial 1937."

On the other side is engraved the name of "Bettie Locke Hamilton, class of 1871" There is room enough for a number of names to be added below that of Mrs Hamilton.

The presentation was made at an alumni dinner in Longden hall following the DePauw-Butler football game. More than one hundred prominent DePauw graduates attended the dinner and heard President Wildman outline DePauw's educational aims for the future. . . . In accepting the Centennial armlet Mrs Hamilton spoke briefly telling of some of the early struggles experienced by women students in their fight for coeducation. She concluded by advocating the appointment of a woman to the Board of trustees and visitors.—DePauw Alumnus, Nov. 1937.

Winner

Mrs William P. Earle Jr. of Brooklyn, only woman chosen for the City council, said last week the election showed there was no "women's vote" in New York City. "Otherwise," she said, "I would have been elected on the first ballot instead of barely getting in. Women do not vote specifically for another woman. Nor do I think they should." Mrs Earle described herself thus: "I'm as old as the Brooklyn bridge, but in much better condition."—New York Times, Dec. 5, 1937.

Genevieve Beavers Earle is one of Alpha Kappa's distinguished members. The New York city council is the new legislative body that will control that great city's destinies when the new charter goes into effect January 1, 1938. Mrs Earle was also a member of the commission which gave the city this modern, and it is confidently expected, adequate charter.

Mrs Earle running on Mayor LaGuardia's fusion ticket was fourth elected (under the proportional representation plan) of the nine candidates who will represent the Brooklyn borough.

For the March issue KAPPA ALPHA THETA has been promised a real story about this charming, interesting Theta.

Veterinary Co-eds Plan Small-Animal Hospitals

Perturbed not one whit by the profession they hope to crash nor the huge carcasses they dissect as part of their training, three coeds at the Ontario veterinary college turned their thoughts toward the future today and talked about the three dog-and-cat hospitals they hope to own after graduation.

"Surely any man would rather bring his sick dog to a woman than to another man," suggested Edith B. Williams of Aurora, only freshman among the trio. "I know the prejudice I'd run up against if I tried to cure sick horses and cows, but a vet's job in a city is somewhat different. I've always wanted to run a dog-and-cat hospital, and my four-year training at Guelph will be none too long."

Edith Williams is an alumna member of Sigma chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta.

Women Are Chided for Their Humility

Mrs Charles A. Beard Says They Lose Sight of Rôle Played in History

Mildly rebuking members of her sex for any feeling of inferiority they might have, Mrs Charles A. Beard, author of On understanding women, asserted yesterday that from the very beginning of time women have shared with men the honor of making world history.

Decrying the common attitude in schools and colleges that this is a "man's world," Mrs Beard maintained that a documentary perusal of the historic past would convince even the most skeptical that women have been more than mere appendages to man's estate. She called upon women to become more fully aware of their own rôle and not consider themselves as the subjected sex.

Mrs Beard . . . spoke at the fall luncheon of the Oberlin women's club of New York at Town Hall. Oberlin alumnae were gathered to celebrate the centennial anniversary of college education for women in the United States. . . .

Mrs Beard startled the alumnae somewhat by rejecting the thesis that Oberlin, or any other institution, gave women their first co-education. In the days of Greek philosophy and culture, women shared with men all educational experiences, and throughout recorded history, women have continued to be active co-leaders rather than meek followers, she insisted.

Unfortunately, much of the past history has been lost, and now schools and colleges portray every significant development from man's point of view, Mrs Beard contended. Women, she commented sadly, have become "a sex lost to history."

"There is nothing in the theory that women have been subjected through the ages," the speaker continued. "Because of that theory women have been given an inferiority complex. According to anthropology, the first sharp distinction between animals and the human race was made by woman when she started industries and agriculture during the cave years.

"We find women always adding something creatively to human life. Women sat side by side with men in the schools of Greek philosophy, and the thought of Greece, which is our background, was built up by the joint thought of men and women."

In no college in the country is anything done to make women aware of their place in history, Mrs Beard complained. Even the very names of women, significant in their day and age, have been lost in the archives of dust and ruin. Few persons in her audience could name many of the important women of the past, she challenged.

"We do not even know American women unless they happen to be alumnae of our own college," she asserted, and told the story of a woman who received her Doctor of philosophy degree at Columbia university two years ago, writing as her thesis American women in the eighteenth century. Few professors could name the women of that period, she said, in adding weight to her point that college education is focused through a one-sided lens.

If the story of women through the centuries were adequately portrayed, it would be seen that women have been teachers, artists, historians, preachers, and molders of destiny, Mrs Beard said. They shared in every stage of the development of Roman power and pomp; they helped make France; they brought culture and the renaissance to England.

"Isabella did a great deal more than Ferdinand to make Spain," she remarked. "She was the Hitler of her day, powerful and ruthless.

"Go on down through history and women always will be there. I can say dogmatically that three women made France. Elizabeth left her influence on England. Women have constantly influenced history."

Attempting to answer the question as to why women are relegated to the background today, Mrs Beard advanced the thesis that by seeking equal education, by trying to make "equal education a Utopia," women have lost sight of their rôle in the past. They have always had equality of education, she said.

A "slight beginning" in the matter of acquainting persons with the rôle women have played through the ages is being made, Mrs Beard disclosed. She explained that pertaining to women—documents of all kinds—are being collected. . . .

"We are starting what we call the World center for women's archives," she added. "All documents about women are being collected. The grand opening of this center will take place December 15. I call upon all of you to help in this undertaking; get the papers of pioneer women and all the other women, and let us find out who we are.

"We shall only have equal education when women discover themselves and men discover the women. Men swear by their documents. The history of great men is built around documents collected by men. Let us collect the documents of women and thus dramatize women's place in history."—New York Times, Dec. 8.

At the grand opening of the Center for women's archives, of which Mrs Beard spoke, it received as its initial memorabilia, the collection of mementos of the final flight of Amelia Earhart, one of the youngest, most enthusiastic sponsors of the archives idea.

Mrs Beard (Mary Ritter) is a member of Alpha chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta. Recently Mrs Beard spoke in Omaha, at the annual convention of Nebraska state teachers' association.

Sorority-Fed and College-Bred, Patrick Flynn Has No Pin

*Patrick O'Shaughnessy Flaberty Flynn
Is a guy without a fraternity pin,
But he stands so well in the Theta clique
That gals feed him their best lipstick.*

If you haven't heard about Patrick, whom the girls affectionately call Pat, that about sizes him up.

He's the most popular man on sorority row—the new menace to Minnesota men.

He doesn't drive a car, but he wears a distinctive fur coat, and can get into the Kappa Alpha Theta house at any hour of night, Dean Blitz notwithstanding.

Patrick is 4 months old, and a handsome fellow. Handsome, that is, as billy goats go. His coat is steel gray and he weighs 60 pounds in his fighting togs—his customary garb. He does NOT eat tin cans, but he does stomach everything from lipstick to the Kappa Alpha Theta shrubbery, being partial to the latter.

He is also partial to women. Pat has horns, and he demonstrated his partiality to coeds to the Theta house boys shortly after he was brought here sorority rush week by Catherine Webster, arts senior, from Mason City, Iowa.

Miss Webster came by her proclivity to undomesticated animals two years ago when she rode "resin backs" in the Cimijotti Hippodrome circus. Her horses were called "high-school horses"; it is her idea that Patrick Flynn will some day be a college-bred goat. She has had him since he was four days old, having bought him as a mascot for her riding academy at Grinnell, Iowa.

Pat came to Minnesota when the Thetas laid plans for a hill-billy rushing party, being disguised at first as a hill-billy goat. Under the tutelage of the Thetas and others on sorority row, however, he has become as thoroughly cultured as ruminative quadrupeds can be.

When it is cold he sleeps in a vacant garage behind the sorority house. During the day, whether it is cold or not, he munches on everything within the range of his chain, which covers the back yard.

There has been some speculation as to what will become of Patrick. The Panhellenic council will not hear of his being pledged, and there is doubt as to how long the Theta shrubbery can withstand his assaults.—Minnesota Daily, Oct. 20, 1937.

Death, Violence, Revolution Mark Early Life of Barbara Keiser

Scorpions and cobras were her babyhood companions. Split seconds meant the difference between life and death when lucky tardiness meant a missed train—a train that a few minutes later wrecked, and battered the life from every soul aboard her. She heard the mad cacophony of war and saw men die in a Honduran revolution. She saw the splintered bulk of a giant dirigible but a moment after its crash, watched it burst into flames.

Such was the violence and color of Barbara Keiser's early life. Barbara, a quiet, charming girl, is a freshman at Butler, a pledge of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. Apparently she is unimpressed by her early experiences, which began March 3, 1920, in Hattian, Ceylon, an island off the coast of India, where she was born. Her father, Robert Larrick Keiser, was American consul at Ceylon. Her mother, formerly Helen Reed, was graduated from Butler in 1916, where she also was a Kappa Alpha Theta.

For the first year and a half of Barbara's life, her parents were constantly on the alert against the scorpions, lizards, cobras, and centipedes which swarmed the island. Once her mother plucked a deadly centipede from Barbara's bed.

Late in 1923, the family left Ceylon for the United States. On their way they traveled through Europe. While in Paris, it became vitally necessary for Mr Keiser to attend a diplomatic banquet at a town outside of Paris. A certain train would get them there just in time. They missed the train by a few seconds.

"My father was furious," said Barbara. "I've never seen him so angry. He almost tried to tear the gates down to get to the train."

The family took a later train, and on the way passed the splintered wreckage of the first train. Every passenger had been killed.

When Barbara reached the United States a few weeks later she met her relatives for the first time. The family stayed in Vincennes, Indiana, for nine months. Then her father was sent to Tegucigalpa, Honduras, to take charge of the consulate there.

They arrived just after a revolution had broken out, in the spring of 1924. It was a revolution of one political faction against another—the "outs" against the "ins." The center of fighting was the national armory, which was just across a narrow street from the consulate. While the consulate had been promised immunity, it frequently was shelled unavoidably.

"Shells often exploded in the patio," Barbara said, her eyes widening in memory. "Planes, piloted by soldiers of fortune, dropped bombs at intervals, but as the pilots were usually drunk, they seldom hit what they aimed at.

"Machine gun fire was almost constant. Irresponsible soldiers would often fire their guns in the streets just to hear the noise. Mother hid me behind the piano in the corner of a room having three-foot adobe walls, because bullets were always flying through the windows. I was much annoyed at these tactics because I wanted to see the marines who were guarding the consulate with fixed bayonets.

"There is one thing I will never forget. The rebels had taken the town. My nurse lifted me to a window to watch. I saw men retreating up a hill to the last fort left to them. I saw many of them fall and watched their bodies roll and bounce back down the hill.

"In the end the revolutionists were successful, and I saw victorious rebels straggle back through the town with loot taken from shops and from the presidential palace."

As soon as the revolution was over, the family returned to the United States. Mr Keiser was stationed at Washington, D.C., for four years.

"I had to learn the English language," smiled Barbara. "I knew only Spanish. And I had an entirely different set of manners to learn."

At the end of four years, her father resigned from the diplomatic corps and they all went to Vincennes. On the way they saw what was left of the Shenandoah just a few minutes after its crash.

"One half was lying in a valley, burning. The other half was on top of a hill. We went up there and saw several fresh graves. The bodies of the crew had been so terribly mangled they were buried where they lay."

From this time on, Barbara has lived an even, quiet life. She was graduated from Shelbyville high school last year, and entered Butler this fall.

Barbara is not yet an American citizen. She was born on British territory. Officially she is half Singelese and half American. When she reaches the age of 21 she must sign papers stating her preference in citizenship.

"I believe I prefer being an American," she said.—Butler Collegian, Nov. 1937.

Laura Lou Brookman, Alpha Rho and Alpha Mu, is now associate editor of the Ladies home journal, assuming the duties of this new job in November 1937.

Working first on newspapers in Des Moines and Cleveland, Miss Brookman traveled on east to New York city, the mecca of most ambitious young writers. Fiction writing proved more attractive than reporting, so for several years Miss Brookman has been a successful writer of syndicated serials, which appeared in newspapers all over the country that subscribe to King features. She was one of the collaborators of Her name was Wallis Warfield.

From New York to Philadelphia Miss Brookman has now transferred her allegiance, also her Siamese cat, "Buda"; accompanying both is her mother, Mrs Brookman, to establish the same sort of friendly apartment as the one where she graciously presided in Tudor city.

November 28, 1937, the Trinity episcopal church of Takoma Park, D.C., dedicated a window "in loving and grateful remembrance of Mary Noyes." The altar flowers for the service were placed by the Daughters of the King "in loving memory of Mary Noyes." The window is to be known as the "good samaritan" window.

Mary Noyes, Lambda chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta, was long a member of this church. She died February 21, 1934.

There Stands the Second Kappa Alpha Theta House Built in the East

APRIL 1, 1937 Iota left its chapter house, which soon disappeared from its knoll. October 1, 1937 Iota entered a new house which adorns the same knoll.

The six months between those dates were long enough for a ten year Iota dream to materialize into a reality. Those six months, to be sure, had been preceded by months of planning and hard work by Iota's house corporation, aided by Ithaca alumnæ Thetas, Grand council, and the architect, Mr Carl C. Tallman.

Once plans were approved and contracts signed, bringing the house into existence became the responsibility of Mr Ward, contractor, and Mr Tallman; while to the Board and resident alumnæ fell more work, the tremendous task of deciding on furnishings and finding money to equip the house. A house with 27 residents needed much more equipment than did the old house with a maximum of 16 residents; besides, much of the furniture had grown decrepit, to put it mildly.

In choice of furnishings the board had the capable aid of Mrs Secord, professional decorator. Salvaging the usable, and disposing of the unusable furniture from the old house, was capably superintended by Kitty Keiper Sherman. Raising funds, a task not yet ended, was in charge of Ruth McClelland Lee who, with her zealous committee, graciously and effectively undertook this difficult work. (We all share in their thanks to alumnæ and friends who lightened the labor by generous gifts—may their number still increase!)

Other members of the corporation cooperated beautifully and did their share of the consulting, deciding, and managing. Special mention should be made of Louise Bontecou McKinney, whose planning of the kitchen set-up delights the cook; of Jean

Mann Read, who quietly enticed from Ithaca Theta alumnæ the necessary wherewithal to furnish the alumnæ guest room; of the meticulous care, cheer, and thoughtfulness with which Grace Caldwell Chamberlain, treasurer of the Board, looked after endless details; and the constant inspiration and effective supervision provided by the Board's chairman, Queenie Horton Sailor, without whose able leadership the dream never could have become reality.

Would you like to inspect the house? We'd love to show it to you, and we are well prepared as guides, for last night it was our happy privilege to show the house to some four hundred faculty and town friends. Next week the "younger generation" will be guests on similar personally conducted tours.

As you came up the walk that Thetas have trod for 17 years, and into the recessed entry, did you look at the lovely turquoise door that matches the shutters, which contrast with the soft shades of rose tapestry-brick walls?

In the hall, pause to admire the stairway with its copper rail, and landings beneath arched windows. Notice the mail chute, bulletin board, bridge table closet, and wood elevator in niches off the first up landing, for this stairway goes all the way from basement below to the top floor.

If you turn to the right, you may "rest your wraps" in the powder room (especially satisfying to town and dorm Thetas), and may sit and chat in the three small parlors (in house parlance—"office, date and alum rooms"). Beyond is the chaperon's suite, living room, bedroom, and bath, charmingly furnished with her own treasured belongings by Mrs Case, the finest chaperon a chapter ever could have.

Back to the central hall and into the long

OPPOSITE ENDS OF IOTA'S LIVING ROOM

(31 ft.) living room. Note its high ceiling; its three 12-foot-tall windows; in the bow end the round "steamer" windows with their blue pots of ivy; the fireplace with the Theta insignia; and the fascinating coloring—soft green walls, deep blue mop board and overmantel print; mahogany furniture; white lamps and accessories; upholstery in blue, or gold, or in fabrics like the long window draperies which combine all the room's colorful colors.

Glass doors leading into the dining room are veiled in sheer turquoise curtains, as are those that lead from it to the terrace. Doors in this room are turquoise too, walls are peach, and the furniture is Stickley tables, chairs, buffet, and serving stands.

On this floor also are kitchen and pantries, which use is proving are adequate to all demands.

Because the lot is a knoll much of the basement is above ground, and has above-the-surface windows. Here are furnace and store rooms, a suite for the cook, dressing room for waiters, an archive room, a trunk room, a ski closet, and best of all from the viewpoint of the girls, a combined game and chapter room—exactly the size of the huge living room over its head.

Now for the second and third floors, all done in new Stickley maple furniture, with the best attainable springs and mattresses on real beds. Each room has its own distinctive pastel tinted walls. There are three single bedrooms, one with private bath; ten double rooms; and one big room for three girls. Each girl has her own individual closet with pole and chest of built in drawers, her own desk, dressing table and bed. Lamps, chairs, bookcases, rugs, frilled white Colonial curtains, and drapes that vary from room to room (being provided by the girls themselves) complete the furnishings—except for Mary Pound's treasured pet canaries.

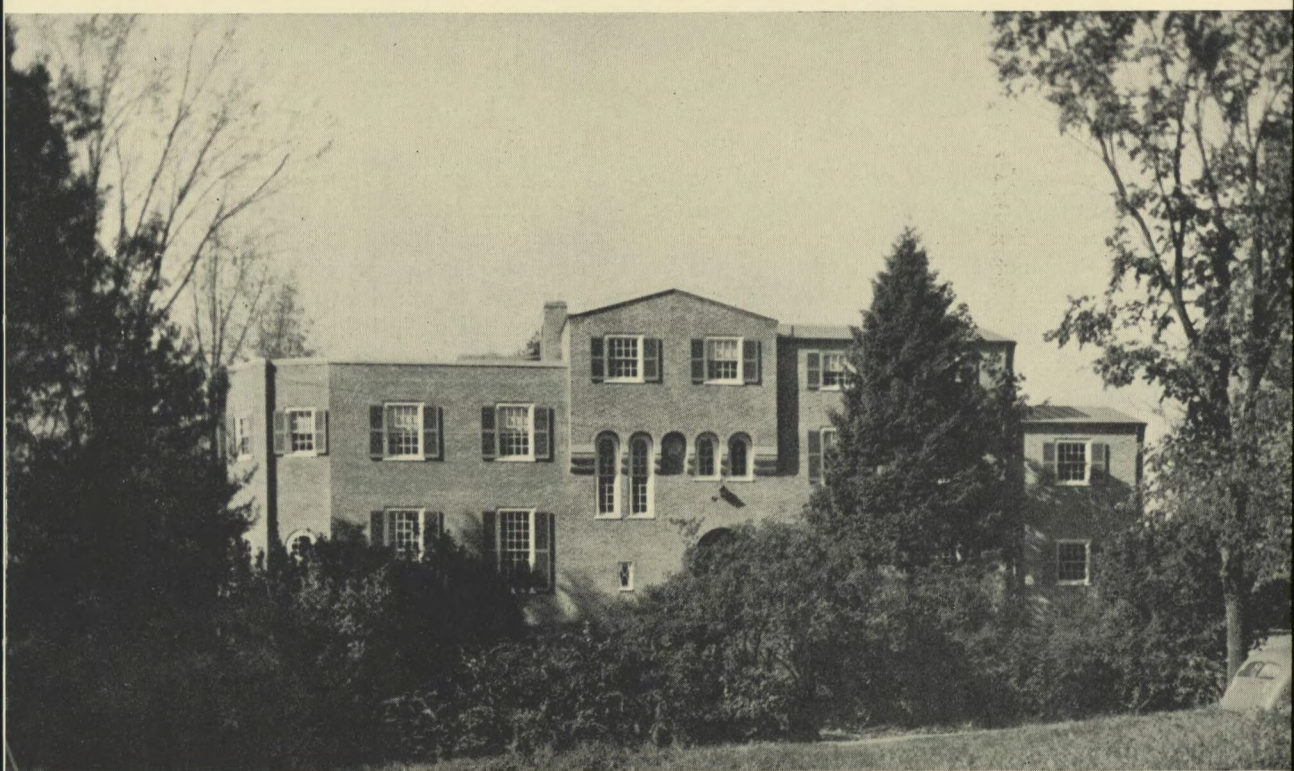

THE SARA BAILEY SAILOR ROOM

On second floor is a completely enclosed sleeping porch for six (in single bed double-deckers) which is provided both with lights and a heating unit. On third floor there is a sun deck with five foot wall and views of golf links, university, and lake that are breath-taking. Each upper floor has coat and linen closets, a utility room with laundry tub and ironing board, also enclosed phone booths. Don't pass by the luxurious bathrooms with plenty of fixtures (including shower stalls), cupboards, and mirrors above the bowls that are doors to more cupboards. The second floor bath room of tile and steel is in orchid shades, the third floor one in gay burnt orange.

To Ithaca alumnæ whose hearts skipped a beat whenever fire sirens gave the Theta house district signal, the best feature is—the house is of fire resistant construction. It is a steel and concrete building with brick facing, metal stairway, plastic floors, except in rooms for dancing where the flooring is oak. The front stairway, all metal, extends from top to bottom of the house front with nothing blocking it. A concrete encased fire stairway forms the back wall of the house, and can be entered on either third or second floor through freely swinging doors. This stairway ends with two steps into the dining room and two onto the terrace, which by the way is another fine feature.

Because of the lot's contour this terrace, 12 x 32, is some 5 feet off the ground, has a 2-foot high railing of brick pillars and steel grill. What a place for tea and chatter, completely isolated from streets and hidden from neighboring houses by tall trees and shrubs!

AT CORNELL

The home of Kappa Alpha Theta at Ithaca, just recently completed.

Friendship and Founders'-day

THIS MONTH Thetas the world around will celebrate the fraternity's sixty-seventh birthday. A splendid time to remember the Friendship fund!

It was at the 1926 convention in San Francisco that the establishment of a Friendship fund was authorized. Two years later—just by birthday penny gifts at Founders'-day celebrations—the fund totaled $1,294.77; and expenditures from it were then authorized.

By the 1936 convention the total donations to the fund had been $5,164.45. Ex-pensures for Friendship gifts had approximated $3,500—every opportunity to extend a helping hand which had been suggested to the committee had been honored.

When the fraternity fund committee reports to convention in June, it will show wise use of the 1936 balance; and a snug nucleus for the next biennium's service, if, and only if, you all continue your generous contributions on this year's Founders'-day.

Pennies do multiply into dollars, and dollars do carry out the purpose of Kappa Alpha Theta's Friendship fund.

SOS from Central Office To Subscribers

A SUMMER of hard work on the KAPPA ALPHA THETA mailing list brought many lost subscribers to light, and the office settled back with a smirk to await an unusually small percentage of returned magazines. But lo! Would you believe it? Magazines not only bounced back at the usual rate, but are still bouncing. The pile has now reached 198. Some lost souls just found are now lost again.

You who read this are all highly satisfactory—and, we smugly assume, satisfied—subscribers, since you continue to let us know where you are. But let no white sheep turn black. If you are moving soon, we earnestly beseech you to read the (comparatively) new instructions on this issue's change of address slip. For the next magazine to reach you, you must send any change by the tenth of October, December, February, or April. If the tenth of October, etc. finds you uncertain of your whereabouts the next month, arrange for forwarding of mail until you settle at a reasonably permanent address. Notice that we do not ask the impossible. We don't require all Thetas to stay put wherever they are, as in "Still Pond—no moving!" (But wouldn't it be fun if nobody ever moved?)

We rise to state that our main worry in the matter is that we must pay eight cents postage (ouch!) and 30 cents plus per copy cost of printing, of each non-deliverable magazine. It would be lovely if we could prevent this costly leakage. We don't worry much about people's not getting the magazine, because if they want it they will send their addresses, as many kind friends do.

One thing does worry us. All initiation fees paid after September 1, 1917, included life subscriptions to the magazine. Do you suppose some of our bouncing magazines belong to people who, although initiated after that date, have forgotten they are entitled to receive said magazine for life? Some may believe they only got the magazine while in college. They are wrong! They get it as long as they tell us where to send it.

Do any of you white sheep know any such puzzled black sheep? Tell them how to get their magazines, and press upon them the address slip from this issue. Terrific postage bills prevent us from chasing them by devious means. We haughtily announce that from now on subscribers will have to chase us. But we're awfully easy to catch!

To Editors

TO LOOK at the galaxy of Phi Beta Kappas and Mortar boards in this issue, you would never realize that it took the editor's assistant three days and 4,236 shrieks of agony to make those layouts. As these words are being written the publishers are having their turn to suffer. Will chapter editors and any others interested in pictures please listen as we complain of our hard life?

This is a combination of thanks to chapter editors and individual Thetas who sent pictures, and wails of pain because no two of them would fit together on a page. Many a gorgeous girl whose pictured head was practically life size had to be put next an equally gorgeous girl whose head measured all of two inches from crown to chin. The big ones have to be reduced at the publishers', and sometimes the little ones have to be enlarged, all of which costs the magazine money, and the editor anguish in making layouts. How would you like it if we put our foot down and said firmly "All pictures for use in Mortar board, scholarship or convention delegate sections must be 3 x 4 inches, or at least have heads two inches high, or more, no less. They must be glossy prints, and their return should not be requested?"

This business of returning pictures! A picture to be returned can't be trimmed or retouched or pasted firmly on a layout or marked. So a vast majority of those moans we mentioned were due to efforts to deal with these pictures without cutting or marring them. We can hear the publishers making remarks on the same subject clear from Ithaca, New York, to Menasha, Wisconsin. Of course, we are always grateful to those of you who try hard to get pictures for us but finally have to borrow; and if you must have them back we'll do our best. But "we'd druther not!" Any photographer will, for a few cents, provide (in any specified size) a shiny service, unmounted print of any picture that was taken at his studio. Most colleges have yearbooks, and most yearbook photographers will make extra prints for a mere pittance.

There are occasions when an unusual pose is more than worth the effort it might take to fit it into a page. Our pages are frequently livened up by such poses as those of Anne Louise Cole, Barbara Cook, and Jane Sedgwick in this issue. So besides our more or less uniform picture sections, let's have some informal, unposed pictures of chapter notables, along the lines of this quotation from Fraternity month:

"The editors of Time, which is probably even more exacting in its requirements for photographs than its big brother Life, have published a little bootlet, The pictures of Time, which tells how to distinguish good, eye-arresting photographs from the bad. . . . 'Of its pictures Time makes the same rigorous demands that it makes of its words. Each must contribute something to the week's news. None must waste the reader's time. . . . A carefully posed photograph is likely to be about as revealing as a Congressman's carefully framed statement to the press.

"Most people cannot look natural if they know they are being photographed. Hence the candid camera. Pictures of people in action should show them doing what they are doing in the accompanying story.'"

A full description with names should be carefully typed and pasted on the back of each picture, to avoid the necessity of Philo Vance work in the office. Pictures should be mailed flat with cardboard on each side to avoid injury. Speaking of names, two pretty Mortar boards arrived anonymously in the mail one morning just at the deadline; no writing on the backs at all. "Mortar boards; unknown" didn't seem quite enough of a caption, so we sadly left them out.

As for getting pictures in on time, here is some advice to chapter editors. Don't wait till Sukey Jones is out of college (and maybe married and moved to Timbuctoo) before you ask for her picture to use in the Phi Beta Kappa section. Nab her the day she is elected, and wrest a photograph from her. If she hasn't one, march her to the photographer. The same applies to any other celebrity. Then you will be prepared for any calls the editor may make, and will probably see your contributions in the magazine. Camera!

Standards

The nine minimum requirements set up for the 2,359 chapters in this country are: No member dropped for deficiency in scholarship; no chapter bills left unpaid or bills receivable from members to the chapter; no unsanitary or unsafe chapter house; appetizing meals, conforming to dietetic requirements; no departures from the best standards of conduct and behavior; no members elected merely for their athletic ability; no breaches of accepted rushing rules; no foolish initiation practices; no chapter expanded to the extent that congeniality, cohesion, and responsibility are lost.

"We shall all agree," said Chairman Darling, "that each chapter house should provide an environment that is conducive to the attainment of the college objectives and should cooperate to the limit of its ability in attaining these objectives.

"The primary objective of the college is to promote the intellectual life. Our undergraduate members are expected to learn how to live with ideas; to master, if they can, the art of critical thinking; to know something of the nature of imaginative and creative thinking; to achieve, through sustained effort, accessions of intellectual power; in short, to come to know what is really meant by intellectual life."

The college is no longer satisfied with improvement in scholastic standing; it wants the student to secure a "liberal experience," his mind growing as he becomes interested in performing one project after another, learning to use intellectual tools and qualifying himself to face the problems of mature manhood. The fraternity must further this liberal experience if it is to be a force in the life of the college.

Instruments that will aid in furthering this liberal experience are adequate chapter house libraries, original art masterpieces or reproductions, symphonic record concerts with explanatory lectures, dramatic competition among fraternities, and national recognition of those chapters which make the largest contributions to culture and the intellectual life of their members.—Extract of Opening address of H. M. Darling, chairman, at 1938 I.F.C.

A Challenger Challenged

ATTENTION, Beta Zeta! Gamma Gamma gladly leaps at the chance to challenge your record, 'cuz we think, in fact we are positive, that our "back-to-college" record is better than yours. One girl is delaying her return until after Christmas, but by the time you read this missive she will be with us again. Thus our group will be complete, all back except the 1937 graduates. Also one girl who missed last year returned in the fall.

We started the college year with more members than we have ever before had at that time. The addition of seven pledges makes us the largest group on campus.

For as small and as transient a college as Rollins that is a very fine record.

See November Beta Zeta chapter letter challenge. Gamma Gamma took the dare.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA arrived today and I am tempted to write the note of congratulations that has been in my mind for many months.

"The magazine gladdens the eye of the most uninformed layman; but my husband, who is a publisher, says there is more to it than meets the eye of the layman. He is constantly telling me that every member should be proud of an organization that puts out such a magazine; and so I add my word of appreciation and praise."

Thetas You'd Enjoy

Elva Bascom

An Appreciation

THE NEWS last June that Elva Bascom was retiring from the faculty of the Carnegie library school in Pittsburgh was a real shock to Thetas in this area. We envy Cleveland Thetas the opportunity of seeing her often, but insist on at least one return visit a year for a book or poetry fest.

It is not, however, only as a reviewer par excellence that we shall miss Miss Bascom. Neighborhood bridge groups will miss a jolly but serious bridge player. We are all going to regret that we can't sit near her at our monthly luncheon meetings to chuckle at her spicy comments. The executive committee has lost a generous supporter of every important enterprise, a person who always stood by even at the end of a strenuous day at Carnegie Tech's library school.

None who has known the inspiration of one of Pittsburgh alumna's book afternoons can fail to be grateful for the years we have had her in our midst. We can all read our Saturday reviews and our New York times book reviews, but no printed word can reflect the ripeness of literary judgment, the richness of interpretation, the rare understanding of life that every listener felt when Elva Bascom talked. Every year brought its grist of appreciative comments: "What a rich storehouse her mind is!"; "What a bubbling spring of literary knowledge." "Don't you love her sense of humor?" "I never miss reading her book reviews in the Sunday paper."

Most of us knew only that here was somebody the alumna chapter was proud of and thoroughly enjoyed, few of us have known the long list of honorable and arduous tasks performed and the honors bestowed in the library world. An author, an editor, a teacher, and at present a member of the American library association council. The range of her interest in writing was wide, from Child welfare bibliography to Professions for college women. A lover of the out-of-doors, she assisted the Department of education in New York in selecting Books on nature study for schools and libraries. The geographic range of her experiences in helping people to learn to read wisely was as wide as the scope of her interests, for she moved from New York to Wisconsin, to Washington, to Texas, to Pennsylvania.

In June, when the time of her leaving Pittsburgh drew near, a large group of appreciative Thetas had a chance at a luncheon in Sewickley to say a thank you in presenting Miss Bascom a Kensington tray. We were proud that day of four decades (you'd never suspect it could have been so long) of service in many parts of our country, proud of the help she had rendered our fraternity locally and nationally in the matter of book selection, but, most of all, we were grateful that we had had twelve years of enriching association with Elva Lucile Bascom.

Bettie and Genevieve

A THIRD generation of the most illustrious Theta family was added to Alpha when, in September 1937, Genevieve Hartley, Bettie Locke Hamilton's granddaughter was pledged. Bettie Locke was present at the pledge service for the dark-haired girl so very like her in appearance.

Genevieve is the daughter of Eulalie Hamilton, also Alpha, and Frank Hartley. She has lived in Arcadia, Indiana, most of her nineteen years, her mother and father teaching there. The other member of the family is a fifteen year old brother, Myron.

Following the energetic tradition of her grandmother, she is interested in activities. During her high school years she was president of the junior class, vice-president of the senior class, school treasurer, and manager of the girls' basketball team, and active in dramatic productions. As Bettie Locke proudly says, "But she studied too and was graduated at the head of her class."

According to Genevieve, the time when she might enter college and become a Theta always has been eagerly awaited. Although she started at Central normal teachers college in Danville, Indiana, she arranged to spend her last two years at DePauw. Genevieve says: "I have heard Theta all my life, and now that I'm pledged it seems too good to be true."

Mrs Hamilton remarked that she was very happy that Genevieve was going to be a Theta, then added with a twinkle in her eye, "Only time will tell what she will get out of fraternity life."

Bettie Locke is vehement in stating that she has told Genevieve since she was a tiny child all her favorite stories about Theta.

"She's known the one about the Phi Gam wanting to put his pin on me ever since she could understand," is the way Mrs Hamilton dryly puts it. Her granddaughter also recalls being told about her great grandfather's suggesting that Bettie found a fraternity for women since she felt so keenly that they were kept in the background of campus activities.

Genevieve has not satisfied completely her ambitions in Theta yet, for she has one more dream—that some day she will go to convention. "Ever since Grandmother went to the one in Philadelphia and told me all about it, I've wanted to go too," she says.

And in the meantime she is trying to live up to the exacting tradition set by her valiant grandmother—that of being the perfect Theta.

ANNE WILKIN

Thetas in American Legion Auxiliary Work

EDNA LASS MUNDT, Alpha Rho '29, of Mound City, South Dakota, has been District president of the American legion auxiliary in District 11. Due to a change in district boundary lines her town was included in District 14, so she attended both District meetings and was elected alternate District president in District 14, resigning from the position in District 11.

In this official capacity she was a delegate to the state convention in Sioux Falls, and to the National convention in New York City in September. She is county chairman of Red Cross and member of the school board of Mound City. Her husband, H. E. Mundt, is an attorney, Lambda Chi Alpha, graduated from the University of Iowa, and has an LL.B. from the University of South Dakota. They have one son, Jimmy, three and a half years old.

Dorliska Crandall Hannan, Beta Omega, of Rapid City, South Dakota, was Publicity chairman for the Department of the American legion auxiliary last year, and elected Chapeau of the 8 and 40 for South Dakota at the state convention in Sioux Falls. The 8 and 40 is an honor society for members who have served in the auxiliary and the companion organization for the 40 and 8. The motto of 8 and 40 is "Fun, fellowship and service"; its work is child welfare, especially tuberculosis prevention. Because of her position Mrs Hannan went to New York City as a delegate to both the Auxiliary meetings and the 8 and 40 meetings. She served last year as chairman of the International relations group of the A.A.U.W. and president of the Episcopal guild in Rapid City. Her husband is Lt. Col. W. S. Hannan, Inf. Res. and they have three children, Bill Jr. aged 16, Gratia 13, and George 10. The Hannans have just moved to Pierre, South Dakota.

Helen Barrett Wood, Alpha Omicron

NO," SAID Helen at the end of the call, "No, I'm really about two-thirds frivolity—and one-third housewife—not really much of a club woman at all."

But apparently that evaluation of Mrs Leon F. Wood is quite her own, because the consensus of club woman opinion has placed her as Iowa state president of the American association of university women. And that position was not gained entirely through an undue amount of frivolity or housewifeliness!

Originally a member of the A.A.U.W. in Omaha, where she was chairman of the drama division, and sent as delegate to the national convention at New Orleans, she transferred to the Des Moines branch in 1929. There she was put to work as program chairman for two years, as president of the branch the next two years, followed immediately by the state secretaryship and then the state presidency in 1936-38. "And that," says she, "that is Finis—and I don't mean maybe." One hopes she does mean "maybe." Such executive ability, in addition to a rare charm and poise, is not to be released without a struggle. Seeing her preside, in perfect command of the situation, whatever it may be, a clear thinker and convincing speaker, exquisitely groomed in the browns and greens and rusts that so enhance her brown hair and expressive brown eyes, one is assured of complete femininity along with ability.

Carrying on the business of the organization, presiding at its meetings, is more than a technique with Helen; it is an art. Under her direction the complex and obscure become clear, and values assume compelling form and color. Certainly to see her at work is an inspiration. But it is not to understand her completely, because there is something in what she says.

She is a bit frivolous! The evidence? A certain light in her eye when she recalls the last dance or the piquant repartee of her favorite actor; the finesse with which she wears the many-colored brooch on her elegant purple gown; the malice with which she gaily steals a slam from her opponents—but space prevents my going on—you ought to know her!

Yet it isn't possible to describe Helen without a word about the quality which most endears her to her friends. No beauty in poetry or subtlety in music; no dignity in humble people or sorrow borne without complaint, escapes her quick perception.

And so by a fine sensibility as well as by exceptional achievements she is a truly distinguished Theta—for Theta she is—Helen Barrett of Alpha Omicron. Not only did the University of Oklahoma contribute to her education, but the University of Chicago, and the Columbia college of expression in Chicago. The degrees she holds—B.L., A.B., and B.E.—and several fine positions teaching English and speech arts, give an idea of the background of all this ability—though she insists no honors were bestowed upon her during her college career—not even Phi Beta Kappa (though her grandfather was one of the founders). There was no chapter of Phi Beta Kappa at Oklahoma. Or maybe she just frivoloed her time away having fun!

Zephyr Hostesses

DOES traveling six days a week become monotonous? Ask, Mildred and Marion Hegenberger of Rho, who have each mileaged 300,000 as hostesses on the Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy Streamlined Zephyr trains, and they'd reply, "I should say not, never a dull moment, no two trips are alike, all guests run the gamut in disposition, you never know what is going to happen when you board the train."

There is just one "Zephyrette" on each train, but seven in number who alternate each trip. The runs consist of two trips from Chicago to St. Paul and Minneapolis (The Twin Cities) and one trip from Chicago to Denver per week (4,000 miles). We wear pearl-grey uniforms, white vestees with a black bow and buttons in winter, and white suits, black vestees with white bow and buttons in summer.

Before the train starts we greet passengers, show them their locations, go through the train with the conductor seating and rearranging parties to please every whim. We care for infants and aid mothers stir up the baby's formula, and mind children traveling alone. We assist elderly people, cripples, and pass out soda mints and ice packs frequently to the less calloused passengers who have been too interested in watching the fence posts go by. We dispatch and receive wires, serve as postman, pass out literature, furnish information concerning connections, see that the inebriated darling retires, administer aspirin for headaches, bandage a finger or redress a wound, and see that the porters keep everything neat and tidy. Truly, we attempt to keep our passengers content and pleased—we want to make our big family comfortable and happy.

we have opportunities for meeting, chatting, and knowing them personally. Mrs Eleanor Roosevelt, Jim Farley, Frances Perkins, Nelson Eddy, Lawrence Tibbett, Gladys Swarthout, Norman Thomas, actresses, governors, senators, and congressmen all have traveled with us at some time or other. Contacts are both bitter and sweet—but you do meet interesting and charming people that offset all unpleasant situations that arise. A cross-section of life can be seen on one trip—what fun.

Jane Sedgwick, Upsilon

Jane is one of a versatile Theta family, her mother is Emily Weeks Sedgwick, Rho; her sister Emily is this year president of Beta Xi chapter; and they also have Theta "cousins and aunts."

JANE SEDGWICK is an outstanding alumna of Upsilon chapter.

"Food administrator for the State of California, Department of institutions" is the long, involved, and (to us ordinary folk) incomprehensible title she bears. It means that she is in charge of feeding the patients and employees of fourteen state institutions. She decides just what, and just how much, should be served at each meal, to furnish proper balanced rations, at the least possible expense.

Every mother with a family to feed has the same job, in petto. She must serve the proper number of calories, made up of the proper vitamins and proteins and things, and she must keep within her budget. That is not so difficult if the check book is fat, and the Pater familias is complaisant.

But imagine the check written by taxpayers, who are never complaisant, and the family consisting of some 30,000 people! And her yearly budget exceeds a million dollars!

Jane Sedgwick has charge of making food plans for all state institutions except prisons. This includes the mental hospitals, reform schools, Home for the feeble-minded, Industrial home for adult blind, and Narcotic hospital. It all counts up to a vast number of mouths to feed. Any one of the mental hospitals has as large a population as a good sized country town.

Each patient, each member of the staff, each attendant, has to have the proper food substances, contained in the hundreds of different kinds of things that go to make up a balanced and palatable meal. And each person on a special diet calls for special things for the work of the dietitians.

By the way—dietitian in one of these large hospitals is an important position. Miss Sedgwick is establishing a sort of internship for graduate dietitians comparable to the arrangements made to give graduate doctors a large experience.

But to get back to meal planning. As the Food administrator knows what each person should eat, she can figure out quantities that each institution would need in three months. All staples are put into store rooms, but fresh vegetables which cannot be raised on the institution grounds, must be purchased much more frequently.

It is plain that it is important to have supplies on hand in proper quantities, and to use them so that they last out the time. Schedules are made for cooks to follow, and dining rooms are watched to see that food is not wasted. Of course it is impossible for Miss Sedgwick to inspect the dining rooms at meal time, to see what the patients are eating. She might walk through some of the rooms, but she couldn't go through all of them, even if she was a champion runner.

So she has invented her own method of finding out what the patients eat, by finding out what they leave on their plates. She inspects the garbage cans. This often leads to adjustments of menus, especially the quantities of bread placed on the tables.

Jane Sedgwick received her training in the College of home economics at the University of Minnesota. Her experiences which led to her present position in California are—first, a nutrition teacher in the Los Angeles public schools, then with the County tuberculosis association, and then nutrition adviser for the State bureau of tuberculosis. She is convinced that her work is important to the state, as the records show not only an improvement in the physical health of the patients, but a saving in kitchen costs.

Fresh air is a welcome change after figuring day after day, multiplying the ounces of food consumed per patient per meal, in order to find out how many tons of food to order to feed for three months all the people at all fourteen institutions. So, Jane takes time off to indulge in her favorite sports, hunting and golfing, to visit her home in Los Angeles, and to think up new ideas profitable to her work.

Like all pioneers in new fields, Jane thoroughly enjoys her work and wouldn't trade her profession for any other. She is not a dietitian but a nutritionist, this is a point she emphasizes. For, as she says, the public connects a dietitian with special diets for specific diseases, while her efforts are directed toward keeping well people well.

The Theta world bows to Jane Sedgwick for her many accomplishments, her perseverance in a pioneer field, and the national recognition she has received.

A turkey dinner and visiting Santa Claus were on the program. The girls were given dolls dressed by co-eds from each sorority.

OF THE origins of our Fraternity Brother Albert P. Jacobs, Phi '73, writes in the Phi of Psi Upsilon: "Many years ago, toward the close of a summer day, a young man was looking out of an upper window in the South college at Union. The rays of the declining sun lit up the great facades of the college buildings, and gilded the arches of their colonnades, and brightened the long grey walls of the terrace upon which they stood. Another student entered, and the two friends fell to talking of the beauty of the sight, of the college, and college affairs. Presently two other friends joined them, and their conversation turned upon the societies of the college and the need there was of a new society. At last, as it grew dark, the visitors arose to leave. Already it had been decided that these young men should endeavor to establish a new fraternity. The four stood for a moment with their hands clasped across. 'Goodnight, thine cordially,' said the visitors as they departed. 'Good night, thine always,' responded to each the one who remained.

"Thus, as tradition has it, was our Fraternity suggested. 'To this casual parting,' said the Hon. Clarkson Nott Potter, Theta '42, one of the early initiates, in his oration before the Psi Upsilon Convention at Ann Arbor . . . 'we owe the four-sided rhomboidal badge with its emblem of clasped hands.'"—Diamond.

"TO EACH chapter, add one good set of officers, including a good leader as a president, an accurate secretary, a careful treasurer, and a good committee chairman. Mix thoroughly until smooth and evenly grained. Then add a generous amount of congeniality, a dash of wit, two ounces of courtesy and a small amount of ginger. Sweeten with equal amounts of cheerfulness, kindness, and charitable thoughts. Work well together, then add a handful each of pep and patience for each member. Keep mixture at even temperature; no steaming, boiling, or stewing necessary. When done, sprinkle generously with willingness and the product will be ready to serve and will grace any chapter."—The Dial.

LIVING in a chapter house is a wonderful experience. Each girl is entirely different from every other one. Doubtless your sisters come from many places and every part of the country—north, south, east, and west. You'll have lots to learn from them and something to give in return. Your relationships will be warm and pleasant if you know the importance of respecting the rights of each one of your sisters—her opinions, her religion, her confidences, and her personal property. Even if that property is six feet three and captain of the football team.—From Mind your manners in Adelphean of Alpha Delta Pi.

fairy tales, and went, awestruck, into toyshops where everything wound up with little keys and danced."—Crescent.

THE DAY of several years ago when it was "smart to be dumb" has been left behind, and at long last, undergraduates have accepted a more normal viewpoint in which an indifference toward scholastic endeavor is frowned upon. They have weathered the growing pains and find themselves in a sophisticated world which expects its college graduates to be poised and well-informed. It does not anticipate that all shall be geniuses or walking encyclopedias, but it does expect from all college-trained people an ability to recognize the fundamentals of problems they may meet, an appreciation of fine things, which comes of studying and knowing fine things, not just being "exposed" to them.

Its business men ask college women seeking to enter the business world, "How high was your scholarship while you were an undergraduate?" They have come to learn that the collegian who was serious-minded about his business of acquiring an education will be conscientious about his tasks in other business. In these days of keen competition, it is smart to be smart!—Alpha Gamma Delta.

EVERY YEAR members of all sororities on the campus at Ohio State gather in large numbers at the annual Scholarship banquet. This year it was held on Thursday evening, November 4, at the Neil house with 948 in attendance.

Mrs Warren R. Sisson, president of City Panhellenic and a member of Delta Gamma presided and Esther Ellen Gaw, Dean of women, addressed the gathering and expressed her pleasure at the tremendous amount of interest shown on this occasion. Mrs George Banta, jr past president of Kappa Alpha Theta, was the guest speaker of the evening and her subject was "The Modern girl in the fraternity system." Awards were made to the groups and individuals by the chairman of the Scholarship committee, Mrs Ivan R. Adams, Kappa Delta. Phi Mu ranked first on the campus among the active groups with Theta Upsilon second. Gamma Phi Lambda (the local on the campus) placed first in Pledge scholarship with Kappa Kappa Gamma second. The individual honors for 1936-37 were divided among six girls, Gretchen Graf of Kappa Alpha Theta placing first; Barbara Anne Baulder of Delta Delta second. Individual honors to the pledges went to Kathleen Belknap of Kappa Kappa Gamma, first, and to Janet Rascall of Phi Mu, second. There were eight other pledges cited for high scholarships.

THE Chicago alumni chapter of Pi Kappa Alpha fraternity presents a plaque to the alumnus who has most distinguished himself for his service to the fraternity and to the public during the year. Each undergraduate and alumnus chapter is asked to nominate a candidate from its own chapter and one from the fraternity at large. This award is presented annually at the Founders'-day dinner on March 1. Lynn O. Waldorf, Northwestern university football coach, won the 1936 award which was presented to him by Governor A. B. Chandler of Kentucky, winner of the 1935 award.

COLLEGE is absolutely useless unless we bring to it genuine intellectual interests. All of us are born, like kittens, with the eyes shut. Some men come to college with eyes still closed. The greater interests of life have not gripped them. Their existence is not vicious, but hopelessly trivial. Even to discuss a really weighty problem of industry, politics, or religion, as all European students constantly do, is to "queer" oneself irretrievably. Listen to the conversation in the fraternity house, the field house, the boarding house . . . does it not rise above the level of the talk at Coney Island? But the world does not look to the Island for intellectual leadership and it does look . . . how eagerly! . . . to the one institution which embodies all its chief hopes and loyalties, the American college.—Dr William H. P. Faunce, via Theta News.

THE Zeta Tau Alpha nurse in Currin Valley, Virginia, visited 2,637 cases from June 1935 to April 1937. There were 520 office visits for medical attention to the Health center, sewing classes were held for girls and their mothers, a recreation program was carried on one summer with a total attendance of 254 for classes in handcraft and games, 2,004 children were inspected in 21 different schools. The Zeta Tau Alpha nurse gave frequent talks on health education in the schools and toxoid was administered to 87 school and preschool children; 31 children had vision defects corrected, and 1936 saw the first prenatal clinic at the Health center.

Because the fraternity system makes an important spiritual contribution, fraternities should improve themselves by self-criticism and reverse the attitude which has caused them to be "losing caste in recent years," Karl Litzenberg, assistant professor of English and adviser on fraternities at the University of Michigan declared at the closing of the twenty-ninth annual session of the National interfraternity conference meeting in New York city, Thanksgiving week-end.

"Fraternities as we know them today are willing to wait for outside criticism and attack when they might well forestall these things by a careful self-criticism," he said. "Abstinence from self-adulation is not the virtue of most fraternal or fraternity conventions, whether they be Elks, Moose or Eagles, or representatives of any Greek-letter society.

"It is nothing short of disgraceful that we have allowed that false, artificial, naïve fakery which we call 'boosting' to usurp the place of decent and honorable pride. It has always seemed to me to be irrefutable in logic that an organization which needs boosting is one which cannot lift itself by the strength of its own ideals or by the moral force of what it pretends to represent. I am inordinately off the 'booster' because he always exerts more energy in praise than he spends time in analysis.

"It is my firm conviction that your most solemn duty is not simply to carry back to your campuses news of this conference, but to convince your fraternity members that they cannot longer raise songs of false praise; that they can no longer take a laissez-faire attitude toward the system; that they can no longer practice that windmill tilting which I have called 'boosting.'"—New York times, Nov. 28, 1937.

ALPHA—DePauw

October activities began for Alpha with the Old Gold day celebration on the sixteenth. The house was decorated for the football game to represent a huge steamer symbolic of mighty DePauw, while the opponents were represented by an overturned rowboat. At noon of that day the girls served a buffet luncheon to their parents.

October 22, the house gave a formal reception for our new house mother, Mrs Mary Cox, in order that she might meet the faculty and administration.

Alpha entertained its fathers for luncheon and a football game November 6. A banquet in the gymnasium marked the conclusion of Dads' day.

Activities of individual members are shown in the pledging of Esther Jacobs and Betty Parker to Theta Sigma Phi, journalism group, and the pledging of Virginia Burns, Gene Spiegel, Eleanor Ibach, and Shirley Ann Shields to the Home Economics club. Rosemary Tulley had the lead in Monon revue, annual musical show written by the students, and several underclassmen were in the choruses. The office of advertising manager of the DePauw newspaper was conferred upon Elizabeth Yount.

New pledge rules have been initiated by the Dean this semester. Freshmen are no longer on study table at the house during week nights but are required to remain in the dormitories. The practice of having freshmen work at the house on Saturday mornings has also been discontinued.

Alpha's annual Thanksgiving banquet was given November 23, marking the approach of the Thanksgiving recess from November 24 to 29.

Planned after vacation is an informal dance for the freshmen December 10. Joe McCartney's orchestra will play, and the decorations will forecast Christmas.

For the third year in succession Theta claims Freshman Queenship! Anne Louise Cole was the judges' choice for this year's Bored Walk popularity and beauty queen. Our house was presented with a loving cup and Anne Louise got a complete traveling wardrobe and a trip to Chicago by airplane. While in Chicago she attended an opera and was the guest at several other functions.

At Home-coming, our decorations were chosen as the cleverest among the women's houses, and for this we received a cash award and a cup. In a recent campus contest we won a beautiful crested clock.

We are proud of Mary Anne Kunkel and Betty Schrader who have recently been elected to Pleiades, activities organization. Recently the Pleiades group sponsored a Hollywood premiere in which students were to appear as movie stars. Mary Anne Kunkel was chosen as Sonja Henie, Mary Susan Stull as Loretta Young, and Evelyn Anderson as Simone Simon.

October 24 we had initiation services for Yvonne DeBruton and Margaret Foley. At this time we welcomed back several former students and alumnæ.

Town alumnæ entertained the chapter at a tea on November 1 at the home of Mrs Cline.

Ruth Smith and Mary Janet Hamilton have been appointed to Y.W.C.A. cabinet.

Mary Janet has recently been elected to Tau Kappa Alpha, national intercollegiate debate organization and has received the Niezer award for the highest honors in public speaking. She is also in charge of the literature group of Y.W.C.A.

Our pledges have been working hard and are making a name for themselves in campus activities. Katheryn Alexander was elected vice-president of the freshman Y.W.C.A. Katheryn Alexander, Marjorie Nie, and Mary Anne Sohl are our representatives to the A.W.S. freshman council. Phoebe Revington and Mary Alice Shively have made the varsity hockey team, and Mary Alice has also been made a member of Oceanides, campus swimming group. Margaret Berry is chairman of the program committee for the International relations club, Martha Merchant is chairman of the social committee of freshman Y.W.C.A., and Mary Anne Sohl is chairman of the program committee of the Education club.

In the city horse show, several events of which were for campus groups, our entrants were Ty Walters and Mary Alice Shively. We placed second.

GAMMA DEUTERON—Ohio Wesleyan

Betty Scroggs won one of three first prizes in the Robson contest; $100 for her paper on Eugene O'Neill.

On October 29, after the Home-coming game, we entertained alumnæ and friends with a tea at the house.

Our pledge formal will be December 30, with the Christmas spirit dominating the decorations. Next week we are having a rummage sale for a new piano.

Eighteen freshmen were pledged on October 9, and 9 upperclassmen on September 26. On Thursday afternoons, the pledges hold an open tea at the rooms for all chapter members.

Last semester we made a gain of six places on the list of sorority averages, putting us in fourth place. With this aim in mind we have engaged a tutor to supervise study-hall on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Such a practice has been helpful to other houses here on campus; as yet it is too early to tell how successful we shall find it, but we hope for the best. Individual members continue to gain scholastic honors. Mary Elizabeth Bell was elected to Sigma Delta Pi and Pi Delta Phi, Spanish and French academic organizations. The four Delta members on the Dean's list, recognizing scholarship, activities, and character, were Jean Hoskins, Halle Galhuly, Dorothy Tuttle, and Ellen Schnebly.

All work and no play is bad, so we have been busy with social as well as scholastic life. Home-coming was celebrated on October 30 with a number of alumnæ present at a formal dinner. November 20, Dads' day, saw us entertaining not only the dads but also the mothers; icy roads prevented many of the dads from coming, so we invited the mothers to take their places. Our annual pledge dance, given on November 13, had football as its theme, colorful pennants decorating the walls. The siege of exchange-dinners, an institution here at Illinois, is over for a while; we exchanged with members of Phi Gamma Delta, Phi Delta Theta, Kappa Sigma, and Phi Kappa Sigma.

Scholastic and social affairs comprise two-thirds of college life. The other third, activities, has not been slighted. Beverlie Briggs and Lois Blue are our representatives in Shi-Ai, which each fall selects two outstanding sophomores from each of 17 houses. Ellen Schnebly, new president of Zeta Phi Eta, was elected to National collegiate players. Jane Chambers is on the committee for the junior prom, the social highlight of the winter season, as well as being our candidate for queen of the prom. Betty Betz, our swimmer, and Barbara Truitt, who was recently elected to Minor Terrapin, represented Delta in the Dolphin water carnival. The Y.W.C.A. and Women's league continue to hold the interest of Delta members.

ETA—Michigan

On our return from vacation this summer we not only found new furniture in our room and in the living room, but were welcomed by a new house mother, Mrs Hall, from Detroit. We proudly announce the names of 17 new pledges: Edith Lynch, Mary Carolyn Martin, Mary Gretchen Conine, Phyllis Kennedy, Betty Shick, Jane Grove, Mary Newcomb, Mary Anna Jamison, Katherine Mead, Patricia Williams, Frances McLaughlin, Frances Burke, Jean Davis, Margaret Mulcahy, Jean Forsythe, Ellen Douglas, and Coraelia Davidson. On October 23 we gave a tea dance for the pledges, having nearly 200 guests during the course of the afternoon. Now we are looking forward to our pledge dance which will take place December 11.

Sophomore cabaret and junior girls' play are keeping our sophomores and juniors busy. Harriet Sharkey was made chairman of the program committee for the cabaret and Katherine MacIvor and Martha Clise are both serving on committees. Harriet Thom, Jean Rutherford, Roberta Leete, Mary Minor and Harriet Sharkey are steadily practising their latest tap routine for the floor show. Harriet Pomeroy was elected to the chairmanship of the publicity committee for the junior play. Mary Gies, Mary Wickes, Sybil Swarthout, Betty Shaeffer, Greta Holtz, and Jean Bertram are on committees. The cast has not been chosen but we hope that we will have as many girls in this play as we did last year.

This year, for the first time on campus, women's fraternities competed in Homecoming decorations. That is why Eta was so pleased to receive the first cup given out for the best decorations.

Betty Bonisteel was recently made night editor of the Michigan daily. Wyvern, junior women's honorary, has for its members three Thetas: Harriet Pomeroy, now president, Janet Fullenwider, and Sybil Swarthout.

IOTA—Cornell

On October 18 twenty-six Thetas and their chaperon, Mrs Case, moved into the new house. Since odd jobs around the building were not completed we took turns using the front and then the back stairs, very grateful to be living together in our new home.

The same day we held our first pledge service in the new chapter room. Freshman pledges are Janet Bliss, Isabel Dempster (sister of Janet) Joanne Heath, Marjorie Huber, Elizabeth Hughes, Mary Jessup, Jane Mann, Patricia Mooney, Marcia Nelson, Eileen McQuillin, Annette Sailor (daughter of our beloved Sara Bailey Sailor) Marjorie Salzman, Caroline Weber (sister of Margaret) Anita Hunniford, and Nancy Cope-land. Anne Epley (sister of Betty Jane Epley Bohn) is a senior transfer from Swarthmore college. Elizabeth Tompkins was formally initiated on October 13, and Elfreda Plaisted, from Beta Epsilon at Oregon State, was affiliated with Iota.

November 22 the chapter met at the house for supper. The alumnae group joined the party after supper for the ice cream and cake dessert which they contributed. After dinner the alumnae made a tour of inspection of the house.

"Five-pounds" have been received from Nathalie Colvocoresses, Sigrid Persson Reger, Dorothy Sullivan Booth, Ruth Ryerson, and Ruth McCurdy. The following alumnae have returned to spend weekends with us: Frances White, Marion Blenderman, Margaret Weber, Dorothea Bentley, and Doris Hendee.

KAPPA—Kansas

Kappa is proud to announce six initiates and another pledge. The following were initiated October 30: Betty Cole, Sue Stotts, Jean Perry, Catherine Heinlein, Joyce Vetter, and Ruth Olive Brown. Jean Robertson, Marysville, the new pledge, has been elected president of the Y.W.C.A. freshman commission.

We're counting the days until the beginning of the second semester when our new house will be completed. It is a magnificent mansion of Georgian architecture and will house 50 girls.

Kappa chapter won first of the women's fraternities at the University of Kansas for having the highest scholarship record last semester. Women's fraternities ranked second only to honorary fraternities for men and women.

The girls aren't just book-worms though, for a number already have been active in campus affairs. Rosamond Barr played a leading part in the Kansas Players' comedy Beggars on horseback, presented four consecutive nights in October, Betty Butcher, a pledge, also took part in the play. Jean Perry is a member of the cast of Elizabeth the queen, to be presented in December.

Two pledges, Sallie Harris and Ilse Nesbitt, gained membership in Tau Sigma, honorary dancing group. Ilse also is a member of Rhadamanthi (poetry organization).

In swimming, Ruth Nelson and Alice Ann Jones were successful in the Quack club try-outs.

Alice Russell and Joyce Vetter were taken into Mu Phi Epsilon, music fraternity, and Dorothy Fritz, Charlene Barber, and Jean Robertson are members of the modern choir.

Jane Blaney, second in the annual Homecoming queen contest, was selected as an escort to the queen. Jane was presented at the Homecoming game by the governor of Kansas.

Four intramural volleyball players were chosen to play on class teams. They are Jane Blaney, Julia Eidson, Jane Montgomery, and Jane Flood.

Theta Sigma Phi, national journalism group, pledged Elizabeth Carruth last month. Marjorie Trembly, pledge, is direct mail secretary of the Jayhawker (yearbook) staff.

At present we are busy planning a Christmas party for little children of Lawrence whose parents cannot afford to give them all the joys of the holidays.

MU—Allegheny

The week-end before Thanksgiving vacation was a full and happy one for Mu. On November 20 we initiated Barbara Johnston, Jane Port, Mary Brickman, Carmon Crandall, Miriam Fay, Mary Louise Gingenbach, Eleanor Harter, Adele Horner, Dorothy Hannon, Vivian Johnson, and Ruth Wetherbee. A banquet at the Venango inn followed. Several alumnae returned, which made the occasion even happier. We all returned to Cochran hall, where we had a grand feed at midnight, sponsored by the college members. Next morning all old and new initiates attended a breakfast at the Coffee shop in Meadville and from there went to church. That afternoon the advisory board gave a lovely tea for us at the home of Eleanor Van Scoten Bates.

Our fall formal will be held December 4 at the Phi Delta Theta house. We have also made plans to go caroling one night during the week before Christmas vacation, stopping at the homes of various Meadville alumnae for refreshments and spending the night at the home of Margaret Railsback Long, Delta. Then we will have a Christmas party and exchange small gifts.

OMICRON—Southern California

Carrying out the theme, Reinforce the Trojan horse, we enthusiastically entered into the spirit of Homecoming by covering our front lawn with hay upon which bony hillbilly figures pondered over the fate of an even bonier horse. It was Jenny Dye's idea, and a good one, for it won honorable mention! Second honorable mention of the week was given us for our skit, Modern women of history, which Janet Chase planned as Theta's entry in the Y.W.C.A. Hi-Jinks. Taxi day found Peggy Price and Pat Francis urging us to ride in strange, antiquated vehicles. Open house before the game with U.C.L.A. concluded the week's festivities.

New actives still have that "extra-happy" look which they acquired November 7, when initiated; they are Nancy Thompson (daughter of Ruth Locke Thompson) Virginia Putnam (sister of Betty) Helen Blackman, Vera Hagy, Evelyn Lewis, Pat Marks, Nancy Massey, Penny Milne, Betsy Ann Moss, Janis Nordling, Margaret Norswing, and Marge Twomey. Nancy Thompson won the scholarship pin.

Candy selling became our occupation when our Mothers' club gave a benefit bridge tea in November, with Mrs von Kleinsmid as guest speaker. And though it's supposedly a secret, we're excited over the Christmas present which our Mothers' club is planning—a silver tray and urn to complete our tea set! Further experience at selling candy was ours at the alumnae benefit at the Beverly Hills country club. We not only spent the afternoon there, but that night returned to dine and dance at the annual Panhellenic dance.

We won second place in the intersorority basketball contest. Travis Wilkinson, Nancy Newberry, Martha Tanner, and Virginia Crabtree were initiated into W.A.A. December 8.

Exchange luncheons have been successful this term. But in spite of our social activities, Bobby Gist insists that study hours must be kept if we would improve our scholarship standing. Emphasizing scholastic accomplishment, Nancy Thompson is pledged to Zeta Phi Eta, speech society.

Apple polishing really wasn't our motive when we entertained our parents at dinner just before Christmas vacation. We enjoyed singing Theta songs for them, then joining them in watching the pledges present a humorous skit planned by Travis Wilkinson and Gene Lou Sullivant.

RHO—Nebraska

Formal pledging of fifteen girls was held October 17.

Hortense Casidy, Des Moines; Adele Byers, Minden; and Lorraine Grant, Omaha, were initiated November 10.

Affiliation service was held November 22 for Patricia Byers, Beta Beta, and Frances Dann and Maxine Merkle, both of Beta Kappa.

Following the tradition of seven years' standing of having either Nebraska Sweetheart, Honorary Colonel, or Prom Girl, Rho this year had Nebraska Sweetheart. Margaret McKay was elected as such by the men on the campus and was presented at the Kosmet Klub fall show.

Marjorie Houser, Omaha, who has transferred from Tau to Rho, made her debut this fall in the Ak-sar-ben ball, social event held annually in Omaha.

Rho was honored to be asked to participate in two radio programs. One was the first of a series of programs saluting the state of Nebraska presented by the Lincoln junior chamber of commerce, and the second was the last of a series of programs presented by Standard Oil company before each Nebraska football game. In each case, Theta was the only women's fraternity asked to participate.

Our fall house party, honoring the pledges, was given October 30. In accordance with the date the decorations represented Halloween—in Alaska. Frances Goodwin was in charge of the arrangements.

SIGMA—Toronto

Saturday, October 30, was a red letter day in the history of Sigma, for on that date we held our first subscription dance. In spite of a few misgivings by some of us, the evening was a definite success. A very large and a very merry crowd attended, including a number of Thetas from Gamma Epsilon who had come down from London for the Varsity-Western rugby game that afternoon. One of the highlights of the evening was a demonstration of the "Big Apple," which at last seems to have taken Toronto by storm. After the dance we held open house at our new apartment, from which we are deriving a great deal of pleasure.

We are always glad of a chance for becoming better acquainted with Thetas from other chapters and this fall we have had two such opportunities. On Monday, October 25, we had with us at our regular meeting and then for supper afterwards several alumnae from Gamma Epsilon who are attending the Ontario College of Education in Toronto. Then a few weeks later on Saturday, November 6, the day of the Varsity-McGill rugby game we were able to entertain at tea a group of Thetas from Montreal.

Sigma is pleased to announce the acquisition of some new furniture, including two studio couches, one a gift from our alumnae chapter, two lounging chairs, two occasional chairs, a nest of tables, and two card table sets. Having made such a good start, we are anxious to make further improvements in the appearance of our chapter rooms.

At last Sigma has a mothers' club. Our mothers have done a great deal for us already in the way of suggestions and gifts for the apartment, and the club, which is now in full swing, promises to be a great success.

The next few weeks will be taken up for the most part with plans for rushing, which descends upon us immediately after Christmas vacation.

UPSILON—Minnesota

Patrick O'Shaunessey Flaherty Flynn played mascot to Upsilon Thetas this fall. Mr Flynn is a personable, six-months-old goat, the possession of Catherine Webster of Mason City, Iowa. Imported to add atmosphere to a barnyard rushing party in September, Patrick so endeared himself to Thetas and neighboring fraternities that he was persuaded to stay on for almost two months. Damage to shrubbery resulted but Patrick's and Catherine's picture with a long story appeared on the front page of the campus paper, the Minnesota daily.

Perhaps Patrick's charm had something to do with it. Perhaps the beautiful coat of paint given the Theta house by alumnae during the summer was as impressive as we thought. Anyway, we pledged twenty-two girls on October 2: Jeannette Kraemer, Donna Knapp (sister of Mary Jo) Barbara Speier, Caryl Johnson, Grace Tucker, Virginia Compton (sister of Barbara) Eileen Sexton, Virginia Ann Colton, Joan Carr, Sallilou Whitcomb, and Mary Brick, Minneapolis; Betty Kleinman, Marian Dornfeld, Betty Bohlig, Margaret Blegan, Verona Berg, Barbara Rounds, and Margaret Bean, St. Paul; Ruth Kircher, Olivia; Jane Cosgriff, Fargo, North Dakota; Mary Jane Riley, Escanaba, Michigan; and Betty Ann Ellis, Cleveland, Ohio. Three weeks later we pledged Gretchen Heynacker of Minneapolis.

On September 28 initiation was held for Catherine Webster, Jean Longbotham, and Eleanor McCormick.

The football season, during which Minnesota won the Big Ten championship, was gay with open house dances at the chapter house after games and with Theta house guests from Drake, Northwestern, Nebraska, and Wisconsin. At the time of the Northwestern game, we were glad to have Mrs D. Bligh Grasett, Grand president, staying with us again.

Jean Schmitt, chairman of Theta Homecoming button sales, was instrumental in winning for the chapter a shiny loving cup and fifth place. Yvonne Stoddard was a member of the women's fraternity committee on Homecoming decorations, and has been named to a committee for the Intercollegiate Ball during the holidays. Janet Paulsrud and Betty Swenson became members of the Y.W.C.A. cabinets.

At the time of this letter, Upsilon members are planning the annual Christmas party for orphan children, and pledges are busily dressing dolls.

PHI—Stanford

Phi is proud to announce the awarding of lower division honors in scholarship to Jean Bell, Barbara Weeks, and Charlotte Speik.

The Panhellenic teas were held on October 22, 23, and 24, providing an opportunity for fraternity women to greet freshmen and transfers. A new system of exchange luncheons has been inaugurated by Panhellenic in which five girls from each house go on Wednesday to another fraternity for lunch. The arrangement has proved very satisfactory, giving the girls in the different fraternities a chance to become much better acquainted. October 28 we held an informal dinner for the Theta transfers.

The Stanford Mothers' club instead of having their annual chrysanthemum tea this year sponsored two performances in the new Memorial theater of Gilbert and Sullivan's Trial by jury and Murder in the cathedral by T. S. Elliot. Appearing in Trial by jury were Dulce Parker and Jane Darsie. November 19, the night before our game with California, Margaret Marshall, Roberta Jean Rankin, Dulce Parker, and Jean Bell sang as a quartet in the Big Game Gaieties. The song was Lockout blues, and Dulce composed the lyrics.

Kappa Sigma invited the whole house to dinner on Tuesday night, November 16. After a lovely meal, the rugs were turned up and everyone danced to the phonograph. Members of the faculty were entertained at dinner on November 23.

Open house was held on October 9 for visiting girls from U.C.L.A. and their friends. To climax the fun and excitement of the week-end Stanford won the football game. Again on November 20 we had open house for the California visitors, who seemed glad to get out of the rain into our warm, cheerful house.

For the rally before the California game each house was to enter a float in the parade down the row to the pavilion. Our float ended up in a near-tragedy. Two kerosene torches fell into the middle of the group of girls seated on the float catching everything on fire. Luckily, however, only one girl, Ann Cornwell, was slightly burned; but the float was completely ruined and had to be left out of the parade.

Initiated November 14 were Constance Bohoskey and Margaret Eastman.

Not to be left out of things our hashers decided that they, too, should have exchange dinners; so they started off by hashing at the Kappa house while the Kappa hashers came here. On another night a basketball game was held between the Theta and Kappa hashers, which proved to be a very exciting affair. Having just entertained at a formal dinner, we lent an air of elegance by appearing in formals to cheer for our team. There were card stunts and yells, and finally a victory for Theta by a score of 28 to 25.

Margaret Marshall was reelected to rally committee and Kay Thompson was made a new member. Ann Cornwell is a member of the junior council, and Willma Richardson was put in charge of the fashion show to be sponsored by Women's conference in March.

CHI—Syracuse

Chi is thrilled with the winning of two silver loving cups within the last week. One is for having the best decorations on the house during Colgate week-end. The artistry of our "Beat Colgate" sign resulted largely from the efforts of Helen Nicklas and Barbara Yeoman. The sophomores won the other cup for having first place in the year-book sales campaign.

The September initiates are Anne Gregory, Elizabeth Watson, Dorothy Wende, Jane Whitney, and Ruth Williams.

A successful rushing period was brought to a close with the pledging of nineteen girls. They are Marion Backman, Jean Dennis, Mary Lou Dillenback, Polly Farnsworth, Yvonne Fox, Frances Fulton, Idella Grosvenor (sister of Marjorie) Kathleen Haberle, Mabel Herbert, Phyllis Howell, Elizabeth Iglehart (sister of Marion) Joan Jobson, Marion Kammerer, Nancy Kincaid, Newell Mavarick, Shirley Pitcher, Louise Rayner, Priscilla Tinker, and Virginia Wakeman.

Chi is proud of Elizabeth Schoonover, captain of the all college hockey team and manager of baseball and volleyball; Jane Whitney, vice-president of the junior class; Shirley Pitcher, secretary of the freshman class; Emily Wilcox and Freda Billington, bid to the interior decorating society, and Marion Morgan, assistant manager of swimming.

Panhellenic announced our ranking as third highest among twenty women's fraternities in the annual scholastic report.

PSI—Wisconsin

We are happy because for the third time in four years we have won first prize for Home-coming decorations. Most of the credit should go to our transfers, who were responsible for the idea and for most of the work. Since Iowa was the visiting team our decorations consisted of a large rooster pecking at an ear of corn. A sign nearby read, "Hasn't been fed since 1912." The year 1912 was the last year that Wisconsin had a winning conference team.

As a special feature of Home-coming this year a group of eleven girls from the campus were chosen as an all-starlette football team. One of the beautiful starlettes was a Theta, Jean Peterson, from Madison.

Since formal rushing we have added six more girls to our pledge group: Elinor Bagley, Betty Montfort, Madison; Anne Heiser, Evanston, Illinois; Elinor Freeman, Wausau; Margaret Meyer, Milwaukee; Betty Joslin, Chicago, Illinois.

In December we had our traditional Christmas party for needy children, giving them toys and useful gifts.

Betty Jean Adams was pledged to Zeta Phi Eta speech society.

We were honored by a visit from the Grand president, Mrs Grasett, on November 30. She also helped us initiate nine girls: Betty Jean Adams, Patricia Holmes, Doris Schaper, Shirley Haverstick, Jane Newcomb, Jean Freeman, Ann Mortonson, Mary Egan, and Jane Tindall.

On December 12 the chapter gave a Sunday night supper for Madison alumnae so that they might have an opportunity to meet the new girls and become better acquainted with the chapter.

OMEGA—California

Ace of Clubs sponsored a dance October 1 at the Fairmont hotel in San Francisco. Omega attended practically en masse and all agreed that the party was a great success. Besides their party Ace of Clubs has done something else that is of interest to us by electing Betty Lou Yelton its new president.

October 17 we entertained members of the faculty and their wives for supper. No semester would be complete without a party for the fathers and so on October 20 we had them for dinner. This year we had a large attendance, as some of the fathers came from as far away as Los Angeles. Highlights of the evening was the trucking contest with fathers carrying off the honors.

The end of second midterms was a just cause for celebration. So celebrate we did on November 13 by giving our formal at Orinda Country club. Even the rain didn't dampen the general enthusiasm and we all had a grand time. Members of Phi were hostesses to us for luncheon when we all went to Stanford for the Big Game.

On November 22 we had an exchange dinner with Alpha Chi Omega. We always look forward to these dinners as it gives us an opportunity to make new acquaintances in other houses. The Mothers club has given us two beautiful love seats for the living room.

There is usually a race to see who will sit on them.

ALPHA GAMMA—Ohio State

On October 17 Alpha Gamma proudly initiated ten girls into the bonds of Thetahood; Julie Allen, Alice Barger, Mary Helen Clinger, Betty Doron, Helen Jordan, Betty Little, Lois Loghrey, Janice Ridenour, Margaret Sellers, and Jane Wilson.

On the same day we were doubly happy to welcome two transfers into our chapter, when Doris Lambert of Beta Rho and Margaret Wilson of Beta Beta were affiliated.

Elizabeth Martin is now treasurer of Strollers dramatic society. For beauty we have Margaret Sellers, our candidate for Homecoming Queen. We see little of Katharine Faulder this quarter, for she is carrying important parts in two campus dramatic productions. She is taking the part of Miriamne in Winterset, which is being presented by Hillel dramatic society. She is also carrying an important rôle in Strollers' fall production, First lady.

Betty Booth was appointed to Women's Ohio, an activities honorary.

On November 1 Alpha Gamma welcomed two new pledges: Margaret Eller and Anna Louise Wilson.

Our first really big social function of the year was the fall formal, which was held at the Scioto country club on November 5. Many parties have been given for our pledges by the pledges of the different fraternities. The juniors and seniors have also had their share of entertainment in exchange parties with the juniors and seniors of Phi Kappa Psi.

Alpha Gamma literally "took to the air" in the early morning on November 19. A group of the girls broadcast over station WBNS which is devoting each Friday program to a fraternity. Our presentation included a group of five Theta songs, a solo by Ann Altmaier, and a history of the fraternity given by Carel Coffin.

At the Panhellenic scholarship banquet early in November Alpha Gamma took several individual honors. But our greatest thrill came from the fact that Mrs George Banta, formerly our own Grand president, was the principal speaker for the evening. May we say that although seventy-two members of our chapter attended the banquet, we made only a small part of the tremendous ovation with which she was received.

Mrs Williams, District president, paid us a short visit on November 15. Our only complaint is that she left us much too soon, and we do hope "Dot" will be back to see us again in a short while. We are looking forward expectantly to Mrs Grasett's visit during the first week of December.

Betty Rose Williams is studying in Oxford, England.

ALPHA DELTA—Goucher

As a result of rushing October 10 to 16, we pledged Eleanor Hall (daughter of Eleanor Hopkins Hall) Dallas, Texas; Dorothy Cort (daughter of Nellie Gleason Cort, Delta, and sister of Helen Cort Brackett and Peggy Cort Olivier) and Harriet Bartholow, Baltimore; and Barbara Ruetenik (daughter of Elfrieda Weits Ruetenik, Eta) Cleveland, Ohio. Our pledge banquet was at the Greenway club October 16. Alpha Delta is grateful to Baltimore alumnae for their indispensable aid during rushing.

Velva Zeiman and Marjorie Evans were initiated October 5. The initiation dinner was held at the Longfellow.

On November 18 we had a coffee hour for fifty guests, at which Dr Beatty, professor of English at Goucher, read some of his most recent and as yet unpublished poetry. It was a delightful and noteworthy occasion.

Athletics as usual are playing a principal rôle in Theta lives: Helen Bishop is manager of basketball and tennis teams, and treasurer of Athletic association, while Marjorie Groothius is on Athletic association board.

Theta is well represented in Goucher literary publications: Marjorie Groothius is Goucher representative for the Baltimore evening sun; Anne Donald is manuscript editor of Kalends, college literary magazine, and literary representative for Donneybrook, year book. Nelly Longstaff is vice-president of sophomore class. Sally Waters is Panhellenic scholarship chairman and Anne Hutchins Panhellenic social chairman.

Alpha Delta had the Panhellenic scholarship cup last year. One of the 1937 graduates, Elizabeth Lloyd White, Phi Beta Kappa, won the Woods Hole scholarship award for study there this past summer. At present she has a fellowship at Bryn Mawr. Marjorie Groothius spent the summer studying on a scholarship to the University of Heidelberg.

ANNE DONALD

ALPHA ETA—Vanderbilt

Autumn gathered up her skirts and flew past us almost too rapidly, leaving in her wake the various activities in which we have participated.

A dance was given for the pledges and everyone had an exciting, exhausting time.

Annie Lee Crowell, Nashville, was pledged recently.

We are proud to say that Mary Louise Bearden and Henrietta Hickman have been elected to Phi Beta Kappa.

In the swimming meet Alpha Eta won the cup by a large majority of points with Polly Ann Billington, Elizabeth Cornelius, Abigail Robenson and Jane Vance swimming.

Lucille Johnson was elected president of Lotus Eaters, freshman-sophomore club. Polly Ann Billington, Abigail Robenson and Virginia Sturdivant were chosen to join the Athenian club, junior organization. Anne Jackson has a prominent rôle in the Mikado, musical production being staged by the Masque club. Polly Ann Billington, Ellen Bowers and Josephine Elliott were chosen as new members of Scribblers club, junior-senior literary group. Mary Louise Bearden is president.

Sara King was the band sponsor for the Vanderbilt-L.S.U. Football game. N.B.C. broadcast the game, and were we proud when we heard: "Presenting Miss Sara King—Kappa Alpha Theta!" from coast to coast.

There was a great deal of hustling and bustling around Thanksgiving time with everyone decorating houses for Homecoming and floats for the parade. Following the Thanksgiving game the chapter had an open house for the alumnae.

ALPHA THETA—Texas

A long delayed fall initiation was finally held November 20 for Kathryn Roach (sister of Marjorie Roach Seawald) Winifred Small, Martha Louise Bell, Jane Dunn, Lucy Blewett, Margaret White, Mary Louise Lydick, Mary Nell Perkins (sister of Eleanor Perkins Cox) and Ann Nibi.

The fall social season began with a faculty tea given at the chapter house. The chapter always enjoys a chance to meet their teachers outside of the class room. About fifty members of the faculty attended. The next Sunday the pledges were given the run of the chapter house for a day. They pulled taffy, played games and generally got to know each other.

Largest event of the season was the chapter tea dance given at the Federated women's clubs building from 5:30 to 8:30 P.M. November 12. The ballroom was decorated in a fall motif with autumn leaves and fall flowers.

During the football season many alumnae returned for brief visits. Among them were Ruth Rickenstein, Nell Betty Anderson, Frances Rickenstein Beddell, Margaret and Arledge Lipscomb, Virginia Ann Hindman, Josephine Nash, Mary Lois Ray, Helen Crawford, Miriam Smith, Betsy Mangum Fulwiler, Mary Kiley, Katherine Leteer, and Billy Morelock.

The Daily Texan, campus newspaper, has been running pictures of the four girls that each fraternity considers its most valuable seniors. Those selected by Kappa Alpha Theta from their own numbers were Bernice Center, president of Mortar board; Lillian Adams, member of Mortar board, rush captain, and member of Cap and gown council; Caroline Brownlee, Ownooch, last year's rush captain, and Nu Upsilon Tau Tau; and Essie May Wentworth.

Affiliation services were held November 30 for Dorothy Ann Dooley, transferred from Alpha Phi; Betty Bloss, transferred from Alpha Gamma; and Custer Yates, transferred from Alpha Omicron.

We are proud to report that Jane Brainard broke all campus records when she won the intramural competition in archery with an amazing score of 342.

ALPHA IOTA—Washington (St. Louis)

Our annual pledge dance was held on October 15 at the Monday club.

The following week-end we donned old clothes and set out for Pippin's Place in Waynesville, Mo. The two houseparty days were spent in hiking, rowing up the river and playing bridge by the fire. After a picture show at a neighboring town on Saturday night, the pledges gave their version of the Big Apple for the amusement of the chapter.

November 22 the members of the chapter were guests of the pledges at the annual Kat-

Sup party at Marjorie Chapman's. Alice Lloyd wrote a very clever and highly entertaining skit entitled Farmer Washington's barnyard, which was presented. (We'll never forget the two girls who were dressed as pigs!) Alice also wrote a new Theta song which the pledges sang for us.

We have affiliated Betty Luetscher from Delta. On October 29 initiation was held for Charlotte Fairbank and Winifred Horner.

Betty Hessing and Frances Hurd are in Delta Phi Alpha, German society.

Margaret Smith appeared in the Thyrsus production of Who's Aunt Tillie.

Edwine Schmid has one of the leads in the new Quad club show, One for the money. June Pentland, Frances Willert and Martha Willert have been chosen for the dancing chorus, and Mary Ramsay and Ruth Pfingsten for the singing chorus.

EMILY TURMAN

State College, Pa.

ALPHA KAPPA—Adelphi

Formal rushing got under way six weeks after college opened. During the six weeks of free association, two important events occurred in Alpha Kappa; Initiation October 5 for Betty Rae Alger, Muriel Pedersen, and Gladys Montgomery, and . . . surprise of surprises! . . . a visit from Grand council October 12! The reason for this unexpected and most welcome event was Panhellenic congress, convening October 14 in Beekman tower, New York City. So Alpha Kappa was honored by the arrival of its distinguished visitors.

November 9, formal rushing began. After a hectic two weeks we had pledging. The formal Theta party was at the home of Aida King in Garden City, the highlights of the evening being Edith Colby Andrews' monologues and Ruth Schlobohm's imitations.

Thetas, besides looking to scholastic honors, take a hand in extra-curricular activities, and the line of interest most pursued thus far this year is dramatics. Gladys Montgomery was stage manager for the All college night play, Janet Weeks is stage manager for Soph show, for which Muriel Pedersen is chairman of Properties committee and in which Betty Rae Alger has one of the leads.

During Thanksgiving holiday, November 26, we gave our annual dance, in conjunction with Kappa Kappa Gamma, at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York City. We are happy to report one of the "smoothest" dances on record, as well as the most successful.

Our alumnae supper meeting is scheduled for December. Aida King has written an amusing skit which the chapter will present for the entertainment of the alumnae.

ALPHA LAMBDA—Washington

Initiation service once more impressed us with its beauty and depth of feeling when we initiated Helen Bathurst and Helene Snow on November 3. They had served a long apprenticeship which only added to their excitement and pleasure at becoming real Thetas.

Fall quarter has been full of activities and social functions. The freshman class fulfilled more than ordinary expectations when Betty Gibbs was elected treasurer of the freshman class, and vice-president of the Y.W.C.A.

freshman auxiliary. Keeping step with her is Pat Riley, who has displayed her talent in the journalistic field by having several articles published in the Daily.

We had a wonderful fall informal—"The farmer's frolic." The motif was carried out to the *n*th degree. Margaret Rawson made clever programs, the covers being of green and white checked oil-cloth with a picture of a farmer's meal-table stenciled on in black. In the middle of the dance floor were homely remembrances of farm life—huge pumpkins, squash, peppers and celery, and bunches of carrots dangling temptingly from the wall lights. Not to be outdone, the orchestra strummed old-fashioned melodies and the dancers indulged in the breath-taking, fast-stepping "Big apple," sustaining themselves with cider and doughnuts.

A party of a more serious kind was one given for the alumnae Friday night, on the week-end of Home-coming. A buffet-supper was served early so that we could see all the signs honoring the "Grads" and the football team. During supper, as with all buffet parties, Thetas were found sitting on the floor, and we are wondering, is that a Theta custom or just one of Alpha Lambda's idiosyncrasies?

Ruth Stotler, a junior, deserves mention for being pledged to Phi Mu Gamma, drama group. Although we are all sorry at the prospect of losing one of our juniors, Antoinette Mahncke, who leaves early in December for a trip around the world, we wish her a wonderful trip.

ALPHA MU—Missouri

Initiation was held at the chapter house on October 24 for Virginia Coulter, Lisette Eschenheimer, and Jane James. There will be another on December 12 for those upper-class pledges who made their grades at the end of the nine weeks. The girls to be initiated then are: Jeanette DeWyl, Laura Louise Dille, Jean Martin, Catherine Oaker-son, Pat O'Flaherty, Gloria Phillips, Stevia Slaughter (sister of Melba) and Jean Stokes.

November 20 we gave a dance at the chapter house. It was our first this year and we only hope the others will measure up to it.

Mary Catherine Maurer has been nominated to Who's Who in American colleges and universities. Mildred Ice was elected Home-coming secretary. Pat O'Flaherty was chosen Barnwarming Queen. Forrestine Smith is our candidate for Queen of the W.S.G.A. dance.

Intramural athletics are under way with Theta ranking third. The swimming meet finished, we are deep into the volleyball tournament.

ALPHA NU—Montana

The ringing of the telephone awoke Alpha Nu girls at 6:30 one morning, and when we heard Mrs Temple's voice at the other end we realized that we all were to have been at the depot at 6:15 to meet our new District president. Mrs Temple visited with us for three days, and during this time made helpful suggestions to the officers and members.

October 18 to 22 we had Courtesy week, at which time the pledges who were to be initiated had to do various bits of entertaining during dinner. Courtesy week was climaxed with the initiating of eight girls. The new initiates are: Jane Bowman, Polly Gilham (daughter of Carrie Hardenburg Gilham) Jean Gilmour, Dorothy Markus, Loyola McDonald, Rosanne Roe, Judith Rohel and Jerine Wermager.

On Friday, November 17, came the annual visit of the Sigma Chi ghost, who was ably impersonated by his Sigma Chi brothers. They came in accompanied by creaking boards, clanking chains, weird green lights and formaldehyde. Shrieks and screams came from every corner of the house, and it was some time after the ghost left before things settled down.

We are proud of our president, Virginia Flanagan, elected Grizzly Queen out of a field of ten candidates. Doris Quaintance is Theta's representative in A.W.S. and Caryl Jones was elected Spur vice-president.

We entertained our pledges at a fireside on October 29. The spirit of Hallowe'en prevailed, and throughout the evening doughnuts and cider were served. Our fall formal was December 3.

Frances Davenport is teaching in the high school at Edgar.

ALPHA XI—Oregon

We have with us this term five transfers—Helen Brugman, Beta Iota, Mary Menig, Mona Sehl, and Eunice C. Brandt, Beta Epsilon, and Peggy Hair, Alpha Sigma, who is an assistant professor of zoology.

October 14 Phyllis Gardner, Patsy Warren, and Shirley Russell were initiated.

Home-coming October 23 brought many alumnæ and many visitors from Beta Epsilon. The Beta Epsilon girls came for the Friday night dance, featuring Paul Whiteman, and for the Oregon-Oregon State game Saturday.

Our pledge dance was October 29. The theme was "Cartoon capers," and we all dressed as funny paper characters. Every one seemed to have a wonderful time, for which credit goes to the committee: Shirley Russell, Cathryn Collins, Esther Horstkotte, Louise Good, Patsy Warren, Phyllis Gardner, Patsy Taylor, and Mary Englesby.

We enjoyed a grand visit with our new District president, Maurine Temple. She was with us for four days, and gave us many helpful suggestions.

We are proud of our activity girls. The freshmen are getting well into the swing with Geraldine Eastham and Marjorie Ellen Titus pledged to Phi Beta, music and drama professional group; Nancy Cooper (president of the pledge class) elected secretary of Philomelete travel group, Jean Groves elected secretary of its Charm school, of which Cathryn Collins, sophomore, is president.

December 5 brings to the campus an A.S.U.O. concert by Frances Brockman, violinist. Frances is a graduate of the university and a member of Kappa Alpha Theta. She will be entertained at a reception at the chapter house following the concert.

ALPHA OMICRON—Oklahoma

Betty Lininger (daughter of Alice Latimer Lininger) Kathryn Ford and Donna Heasley have been initiated, and Eileen Stephenson, Pittsburg, Kansas, is a new pledge.

First semester pledges were honored with a dansant given December 4 by the members. The Theta trio, composed of Ruby Jane Douglass, Babs Lawton and Kathryn Ford, sang special numbers.

On Dads' day October 23, Theta fathers were entertained with a luncheon in the chapter house.

Theta entertained with a Home-coming dinner November 20. The house was decorated with a large open letter to the Oklahoma Aggies. Our float was in black and gold with a large kite mounted on top.

Nell Phillips was elected Queen of the university band for the year. Betty Larimore is our nominee for secretary of the junior class. Phyllis Fleming has been nominated for Covered Wagon Queen.

ALPHA PI—North Dakota

After an unusually long and mild fall the well-known North Dakota blizzards have descended upon us again, and we have gotten out our mittens and overshoes.

Having the longest walk to classes of any fraternity on the campus must have inspired us last semester, as we won first place in scholarship among all the fraternities in our chapter average and in our combined chapter and pledge average. We are endeavoring to keep up the good work this year. We are proud of our president, Ellen Bek, who was recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa and also to Who's Who among students in American colleges and universities. Jean Stebbins added another honor to our list when she was initiated into Sigma Epsilon Sigma, freshman women's scholastic society.

Eleanor Eide, Alice Forkner, Dorothea Sitz, and Verone Wagness are members of Madrigal club, university music organization. Dorothea Sitz is secretary of the group, and Eleanor Eide was elected librarian.

We have six new University Playmakers also: Florence Dicker, Margaret and Patricia Duffy, Rosalyn Nielson, Jean Stebbins, and Verone Wagness. Margaret Duffy was elected vice-president of the organization. She was also chosen president of Kappa Psi Omicron, forensic society. Betty Berg, Margaret Duffy, and Eleanor Thompson took part in the first Playmaker production of the year, First lady.

Hazel Durfee has been selected as women's sport editor for the university annual.

On November 21, the alumnae club, under the chairmanship of Mrs William E. Budge, invited the pledges to a Sunday night supper. From all reports they had a very enjoyable time.

We were exceedingly sorry to lose Margaret Cashel, pledge, who had to leave school because of illness, but we hope she will be with us next semester.

ELEANOR THOMPSON

29 November 1937

New addresses: Margaret Lovell Mason (Mrs Sewell L.) 2205 4th av. N. Grand Forks, N.D.—Jean Chapple, Ellendale, N.D.—Josephine Lynch,

ALPHA RHO—South Dakota

This passing month has been a busy one for Alpha Rho. First of all, Jane Robertson was initiated on November 6. We are very pleased, for Jane was new this year. She is a senior and her former records made the initiation possible.

We added another pledge to our fine group; Phyllis Hendrickson, of Viborg. Then came Dakota day, the main event of the college year. For two weeks previous to the momentous occasion Alpha Rho made flowers; little ones, big ones, and every color imaginable. The result—in two weeks—a float that could not be surpassed by any other fraternity or group on the campus. Theta banners flew high that day, for it was our twenty-fifth anniversary, and Home-coming for the 1912 football team. The combination was excellent, and now we have a lovely new trophy adorning the mantel.

Then there was the Dakota day play—Graustark, with Eleanore Morrison playing the lead. After the play Miss Dakota was crowned, with Helen Anderson serving as one of the attendants.

Everyone (almost literally) came back for Home-coming, and we entertained ninety at the alumnae dinner. It was a fitting climax to a glorious day.

The pledges gave a truly "bewitching" Hallowe'en party on November 1.

Helen Anderson was elected president of Guidon, women's national military organization. Mary Delaney, after wandering forlornly around the campus in cotton stockings, one black, and one white, carrying a wooden gun, and other paraphernalia, was initiated into Guidon. Mary was also initiated into Phi Sigma Iota, romance language society. Shirley Reynolds was initiated into Alpha Chi Alpha, journalism group to which Marjorie Norton was pledged.

Helen Anderson is vice-president of Mortar board; Betty Frei, representative of fine arts in the student senate; Mary Delaney, secretary-treasurer of junior class; Carrol Wilson, vice-president of the Howling Hundred, campus pep organization; and Helen Gibbs, vice-president of freshman class.

Tons of money was presented November 19 with Shirley Reynolds and Eleanore Morrison playing leading rôles. Several of our group are scheduled for radio broadcasts over Yankton. Eleanore Morrison gave a twenty minute program on November 21, and Ferne Phyllips and Harriet Bakewell are scheduled for December 19, and January 5, respectively. The whole chapter had a Theta "sing" over our local station on November 18. Harriet Bakewell sang a solo. It was much fun, and we only hope that the program was enjoyed as much by the audience.

ALPHA SIGMA—Washington State

Alpha Sigma was happy to initiate, October 23, Marjorie Buck, Janet Swart, Margaret Beaumont, Betty Lou Currie, Pearl Mary Copeland, Martha Gregory, Lorna Porter and Marie Wilcoxon.

After the football season, members entertained in honor of the pledges with a Madhatter dance. Dancers circulated from the Madhatter Tea party at one end of the room to Humpty Dumpty at the other end. Walls were decorated with large poster-size cut-outs from Alice in Wonderland.

We are making final plans for a musicale December 3 at the chapter house honoring Mrs Louise Ferguson Nasmyth, who has just resigned from four-year service on our Advisory board, and Mrs Charlotte Melott Kruegal, Beta, sponsor of the group that won Alpha Sigma's Theta charter. The musicale takes the place of the Christmas faculty teas which we gave in previous years. Ida Mae Kirtland, violinist; Patricia Winney, pianist; Mary Barrett, reader; Jacqueline Nelson, whistler; and Mrs Frances Lynch Yeend, vocalist, will provide the entertainment. One-hundred-fifty guests have been invited.

There are sure to be surprises for pledges and members at the yearly Christmas party just before we leave for the holidays, when Santa Claus opens his pack and distributes gifts.

We were pleased, as was Pearl Mary Copeland, when she won a place on the varsity debate team. Four Thetas received bids to Eurodelphian society: Ida Mae Kirtland, Barbara Lacey, Mary Barrett and Judy McWhorter. Helen Lewis and Joyce Johnson were initiated by Fish Fans, swimming club. Betty Secrest and Lois Ellington have parts in the next all-college play, Trial of Mary Dugan. We are rightfully proud of Betty Cooper, regional chairman of Y.W.C.A., who will travel to the University of Miami, Oxford, Ohio, for the National student assembly, during the Christmas holidays. She will be co-chairman of one of the eleven discussion commissions. Helen Wersen is chairman of the Western sectional conference of the Athletic federation of college women, which will meet at Washington State college in April.

ALPHA PHI—Newcomb

Rushing added the following pledges to Alpha Phi's roll: Helen Bres, Jeanne Brown, Lois Ford, Dorothy Lee Gaiennie (sister of Mary Valerie) Irene Pfaff, and Dorothy Singreen (sister of Florence) all of New Orleans; Martha Harper (daughter of Augusta Gardner Harper) Minden; Marilyn Lovell, France Field, Panama; Patricia Priddie, Houston, Texas; Louise Stovall, San Antonio, Texas; Dorothy Sutton, Sylvester, Georgia; Anne Rose Wyly, Lake Providence.

Initiation was October 15 for Alice Carter, Peggy Lou Gash, Betty Mae Magruder, Florence Hendrick, Joyce Lacey, Elizabeth Rittenhouse, and Sally Robinson.

Katie Butt was elected to T.U.R.K. (Tulane university rooters club). Nita Baker, whose looks are making school history, was elected one of the five best dressed Newcombites and Mary Shapard was awarded the George prize of $25 in a debate. She will represent Newcomb in December in an oratorical clash with a team from Edinburgh, Scotland.

Tulane's Home-coming this year was its usual success. Pontiac's Varsity show featured Newcomb and Tulane November 5 on a national hookup which was an unusual boost to our pride. Some of the Thetas who helped make this program a success were: Katie Butt, Darrah Chauvin, Anne Denton, Lois Ford, Mary Morelock, Dorothy Singreen, and Anne Rose Wyly. Preceding the Varsity show was the annual bonfire, and as a climax to the Home-coming events we danced to Shep Field's "rippling rhythm."

We were especially honored by a visit from our District president, Mrs Quillian. We planned several informal luncheons and a Sunday night buffet supper in the rooms for her. We found her a typical Theta, lovely and enthusiastic.

Theta mothers in New Orleans are as enthusiastic and active as the chapter. The Mothers' club frequently showers us with gifts. They have included a telephone, punch service, silver, linens and many other additions to our rooms.

MARY UTLEY

ALPHA CHI—Purdue

Formal rush started October 2. It included a tea, three informal dinners, and our preference dinner. Friday evening October 8 we pledged nineteen girls: Ruth Bennett, Dayton, Ohio; Merle Hagemeyer, Marjorie Seibert, Cincinnati, Ohio; Vera Hugle, Jean Pray, Oak Park, Illinois; Mary Margaret Klepper, Decatur, Illinois; Ann Loring (daughter of Edna Bence Loring) Kalamazoo, Michigan; Mary McClelland, Marjorie Moore, Lafayette; Johann McLean, Indianapolis; Alice Newton, Shaker Heights, Ohio; Jane Ourand, Toledo, Ohio; Ruth Osborne, Indianapolis; Mary Ritter, Sarah Saint, New-castle; Margaret Saurer (sister of Catherine Saurer Smith) Genevieve Houser, Bluffton; Marjorie Starett, Marion; Peggy Terstegge, Louisville, Kentucky.

After our pledge dance October 23 we all settled down to school work and pledge training.

Initiation was held November 13 for Janet Decker (sister of Mary Emily) Barbara Cook, Mary Davis, Vivian Phelps, Barbara Pickett, Barbara Roderick, Mildred Ross.

The vocational guidance conference was held at Purdue October 20 and 21. Dorothy Martenet, vice-president of W.S.G.A., was in charge. Many renowned women spoke to us during this two day period, which closed with a banquet. We all profited by our contact with these speakers.

Last Thursday night we had Lafayette alumnae for dinner. We had a grand time, and we hope they enjoyed it as much as we did and will come back soon.

Twenty-nine mothers came to a luncheon given November 23 at the house. After lunch Mrs Foster, a Lafayette woman, showed slides of her trip west. A short business meeting followed.

The Friday before Christmas vacation is our all traditional all-night party. The pledges entertain, and we have a fine time.

ALPHA PSI—Lawrence

Among the six seniors named to Phi Beta Kappa in the fall elections was Marian Humleker, chapter president. She was also nominated as a candidate for all-college president. She is the first girl in the history of Lawrence College to have received this honor. The election was close with Marian losing by only a few votes. She was recently named to the school paper's editorial council which determines the paper's editorial policies.

In the first dramatic production of the year, Noah by Andre Obey, Betty Ann Johnson played the part of Mrs Noah, the female lead. Ruth Chapelle also took part in the play and Monica Woersly was costume chairman.

Eight Thetas were honored for scholarship by being presented in a special honors day chapel program. They are Sally Johnson, Janet Weber and Mary White, who attained high honors for the year '36-'37, and Marian Humleker, Helen Peters, Ellen Sweet, Betty White, and Jane Wood, who attained honors.

The pledges have also won distinction. Kathryn Tuchscherer was elected freshman representative to Lawrence Women's association, and Blanche Quincannon was elected social chairman of the freshman women. All astride bicycles the pledges won the Home-coming float for Theta. Their slogan was, "After ten years of losing fashion, we want a change in cycle." Leading the bicycles was the traditional bicycle built for two. Following this the girls wore progressively newer fashions to the present day slacks and letter sweaters. As a climax to the Home-coming celebration, Jean Lewis, Appleton, and Geraldine Storandt, Sparta, were initiated October 31. Earlier in October ribbons were pinned on Blanche Quincannon, Lake Geneva, and Monica Woersly, Racine was pledged.

Having won the inter-sorority athletic plaque last year, we are well on our way to repeat this success this year. Jean Lewis and Margaret Seip won the tennis tournament for us and Jean Doerr and Janet Weber won second in archery. Seven of the eleven girls named to the all-college varsity hockey team were Thetas, Jean Doerr, Katherine Kendrick, Jean Lewis, Helen Peters, Barbara Rounds, Margaret Seip, and Mary White.

The pledges gave a popcorn and coca-cola party after one of the weekly Friday night college frolics. It was very informal, the girls dropping in whenever they wished, and was an excellent way to get together. Our sport dance given jointly with one of the other women's fraternities was a success. The theme of the decorations was football. There were goal posts at each end and bleachers at the sidelines for seats. The dance programs gave the lineup. The chaperons were referees and the guests were linesmen. Refreshments were doughnuts and cider.

ALPHA OMEGA—Pittsburgh

November 14 was our fall rushing tea—the date set aside for rushing of second-semester freshmen and upperclass women—and a week later we pinned black and gold ribbons on Louisa Gabbert and Betty Fedigan (sister of Eleanor).

During the first eight weeks of school we have the orientation of freshman women in the form of mentor groups, headed by seniors and numbering six or seven freshmen in each group. This year Thyrsa Agness Amos, Jean Barnes, Gail Brigham, Beverly Childress, Sally Digby, June Greene and Janet Wilson were seven of the forty-three mentors. Now the freshmen are in units, special interest groups, one of which—the acting unit—is headed by Mary Annette Campbell.

In the meantime, June Greene keeps us informed of college clothes in her position as fashion editor on the Panther, monthly humor magazine, and Thyrsa Agness Amos and Sally Digby march at the head of R.O.T.C. corps as a result of fall R.O.T.C. co-ed officer elections—Thyrsa as co-ed colonel, and Sally as a captain.

On our crowded social calendar we have a supper-party given us by Sigma Alpha Epsilon November 20; a party we gave for the Alpha Omega alumnae November 29, at which we played games and heard reminiscences; a Hallowe'en house dance October 30, where we had to crawl through the basement to get to the party; a chapter Christmas party as a send-off for vacation; a vacation-time slumber party; and a Christmas party given us by the mothers' club.

Mrs Athearn was here for a short but delightful visit on October 8 and 9.

BETA BETA—Randolph-Macon

Beta Beta is proud to announce its list of pledges: Anne Adams, Rockbridge Baths; Carolyn and Velma Boaz, Coveseville; Adalaide Carter, Oklahoma City, Oklahoma; Sarah Elizabeth Coburn, Grosse Pointe, Michigan; Jane and Margaret Gulske, Amarillo, Texas; Josephine Hall, Port Arthur, Texas; Mary Hillman, Frances Keliher, Jessie Alice Nettleton, Dallas, Texas; Clara Warren Lane, Surry; Gwendolyn Lawhead, Detroit, Michigan; Sarah Jane Reese, Paris, Illinois; Estelle Wright, Paris, Texas; Martha Setiz, Blacksburg; Mary Byrd Shearer, Washington, D.C.

In late October Miss Dorothy Hughes, alumna and faculty member who is always helping and entertaining us, invited members and pledges to spend the day at her cabin in the mountains near Lynchburg. We loaded into a truck and arrived at the little log building to find fires blazing on all the hearths. Everybody enjoyed tramping through the woods looking for deer hidden in the brilliant autumn foliage.

In November the chapter gave the pledges, as their fall outing, a trip to beautiful old Forest Tavern near Natural bridge. It is an inn steeped in tradition, where the atmosphere is that of old Virginia and the food is truly delicious. At dinner the pledges were presented with gold bracelets as favors.

Beta Beta has had open house several times. On Thanksgiving day all the houses received and returned calls. Faculty members also called.

Our pledges are now planning for their Christmas party for the chapter, to take place the week before Christmas holidays.

BETA GAMMA—Colorado State

Many were the faculty compliments on the faculty tea which we gave November 7. Several years ago we introduced this method of meeting the faculty and it has proved a success.

Coats, old stoves, ladders, and turkeys pervaded the house as we entertained dates with our annual scavenger hunt November 6.

Amid applause and blare of trumpets, Josephine Hoge and Maxine Herron were honored at the Military Ball as newly elected sponsors of the R.O.T.C. regiment. Josephine Hoge is sponsor for the entire regiment, the highest honor, while Maxine Herron is sponsor for the First battalion. Josephine and Maxine were also elected to Who's who in American colleges and universities, and received invitations to pledge Beta Beta Beta, national biological group.

We carried away the prize for house decorations on Home-coming. The dance, the Big apple, was the theme. Other colleges in the Rocky Mountain conference were represented by Cut-out football players. In the center stood a "Farmer," and on the huge apple sign in the background was the slogan: "Farmer's Turn to Shine."

Before going home for Thanksgiving vacation, we celebrated the occasion with a formal dinner.

BETA DELTA—Arizona

Pre-holiday activities at Arizona included a late Home-coming, November 23, with a western Bar-b-q, bonfire, rally, and an afternoon game with Kansas. Beta Delta was happy to welcome its alumnae to a house decorated to win first place this year. A buffet supper was held after the game to unite Thetas old and new.

Vying for scholarship honors were Kappa Kappa Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, and Kappa Alpha Theta, all with 2.6 averages. Slight variations in the second and third decimals placed us third. After recent midsemester delinquent reports Beta Delta found itself with fewer failures than ever before and has high hopes for first place in scholarship next semester.

On October 3 we initiated Josephine Scoville, Lesta Lou Welch, and Caroline Carson (sister of Betsy). We were happy to pledge Anne Skiles, October 20.

Some of last year's achievements recently announced are worthy of echo here. Betty Bolton received honors for the highest freshman average in the college of Music; Phoebe Peyton and Randall Foster earned freshman class honors. Betsy Carson, our last year's president, passed the bar examination in June and is now practicing law in Phoenix.

Theta won the high-point honor cup in swimming events for the fall season. Flora Sans was elected to Desert Riders; Shirley Weirich, Jeanne Hamilton, and Betty Wykoff were initiated into W.A.A. Clara d'Arcy was chosen president of the "A" club. Laura Morgan won championship titles in the annual southwest tennis tournament and the Phoenix statewide tournament. Betty Bolton is soprano soloist on frequent university radio and civic programs.

On December 11 we will have our first dinner dance for the year.

We are happy to become better acquainted with our new university president, Dr Alfred Atkinson, and Mrs Atkinson, whom we entertained at dinner.

At midsemester we lost Caroline Carson, who will marry Howard Boice, Pi Kappa Alpha, December 4.

We are looking forward to the visit of our District president, Mrs Clarke, who will come before the holidays.

BETA EPSILON—Oregon State

Our new District president, Mrs Maurine Temple, is honoring us with an official visit. Every one of us is enjoying meeting and visiting with her. We appreciate her kindness and understanding, and above all her helpful suggestions.

Our annual pledge dance, November 13, was carried out effectively with a Grecian theme. Gold laurel leaves, Doric columns, scrolls and Grecian heads combined to produce a simple, yet classical effect. The following day we again entertained with a turkey dinner.

The pledges entertained the chapter with a Halloween dinner. The dining-room was cleverly decorated with pumpkins, corn stalks, gaily colored leaves, apples, and balloons. When popped each girl's balloon yielded a fortune. Catching the carefree and convivial spirit, every one had a wonderful time.

As usual, football was our chief interest this term. To make things more pleasant our team did very nicely for itself. Home-coming was successful. The many alumnae who returned to the campus were our chief source of pleasure and enjoyment.

Eight faculty members were entertained at dinner November 18. A pleasant and congenial group made it an enjoyable success.

Kathleen Aston was elected to Theta Sigma Phi, women's journalistic society. Sue Adams and Alice Weisendanger were elected to Alpha Lambda Delta, sophomore scholastic group.

We are zealously singing in preparation for our annual Christmas caroling. To further the Christmas spirit, we stop at each fraternity house with our bells and candles and sing Christmas carols. We are also looking forward to our annual Christmas tree and party the week before vacation.

BETA ZETA—Oklahoma State

Initiated on October 30 were: Mary Lenore Currell, Lawton; Olive Carter, Yale; Helen Oare, Cherokee; and Lorene Skaer, Kansas City, Mo.

In October Theta tied with Chi Omega in the golf tournament, but jumped to the front in the race for the sports cup with first place in the swimming meet. Besides winning the meet, Olive Carter and Alice Madden won the gold and silver medals for being the best swimmers in the meet. Basketball season opens soon, and we have very favorable prospects.

Four girls chosen for the beauty section of our school annual are Patricia Harrison, Eileen (Pat) Kelly, Winifred Randall, and Mary Lenore Currell.

Important among our social activities was a faculty coffee, to which we invited prominent members of the faculty. This was our first opportunity to use the two new silver services given to us earlier in the year by alumnæ. They have also given us some new white card tables and chairs to be used at large dinner and parties, and an electric water cooler.

Among those who returned for Homecoming were Karldeen Beer, Barbara Herron, Mary Wayne Gambill, Virginia Sebert, Leota West, Dorothy Surber, Mary O. Resler, Margaret Parr, Lois Kasl, and Mary Jane Price Montgomery. The Thetas won second place in the contest for the best Homecoming decorations.

Activities of pledges have been numerous. Important among these was the progressive dinner given them by the alumnæ, the taffy pull staged by pledges for themselves and the members, and the banquet, with flowers and gifts, given by pledges for their pledge mothers.

New addresses: Jeanne Emery Falk (Mrs F. W.) 6117 Contra Costa, Oakland, Calif.—Mildred Martin Lance (Mrs C. W.) 320 Bellvue, Had-donfield, N.J.

BETA THETA—Idaho

Honors came to Theta when Matha Boles was given the Phi Chi Theta key for having the highest woman's grades in her sophomore and junior years in the school of business. Maria Raphael and Helen Ann Sutton were pledged to the business society, Phi Chi Theta, on November 15. Maria was pledged to Cardinal key, upperclasswomen's group and is also vice-president of Panhellenic. Anna Claire Herman was pledged to Alpha Lambda Delta, national scholastic honorary for freshman women.

Mrs Temple, president of District IX, paid the chapter a formal visit October 27 to 30. We were glad of this opportunity to become better acquainted with her, and we gained much from her visit. The last night of her visit the chapter entertained her at a formal dinner party, with Moscow alumnae as guests.

Mrs William Casey, our new house mother, was introduced to the campus at a formal tea, October 10, at the chapter house. Members of the faculty and house representatives were guests.

The members entertained the pledges at a Black Chapel Halloween party, and the pledges reciprocated with a grand Thanksgiving get-together and feed before the fire.

We had our annual pledge dance Friday, October 22. Around the walls, musical notes tumbling from replicas of tin cans of music of the nationally-known dance orchestras carried out the theme, "Canned music." The programs were black and gold resembling the pledge pin.

Michigan, Chicago, Ill.—Betty Amsley, 1560 Downing, Kenilworth apts. Denver, Colo.—Mabel Rose Turner Coleman (Mrs Clifton) 668 Cook st. Denver, Colo.

BETA KAPPA—Drake

Drake fraternity women made a scholarship average of 3.75 during the spring semester of 1937. Our Theta average was 4.19 and we hope to be able to maintain or raise it this semester. Ruth Meyer wears the gold circlet which signifies the highest scholarship within the chapter.

October 17 is a memorable day in the lives of fifteen girls who are now entitled to wear the kite and twin stars. New initiates: Ruth Alexander, Redwood Falls, Minnesota; Eldred Breedlove, Madison, South Dakota; Jane Bush (daughter of Viola Sonntag Bush), Plainfield, Illinois; Ava Marie Butler, Park Rapids, Minnesota; Eldred Cain, Eagle Grove; Cleomary Conte, Spencer; Merna-belle Opp, Creston; Ada Beth Peaker, Charmain Wooten, Newton; and Margaret Andrew, Mary Louise Clark, Virginia Hanson, Ruth Meyer, Marianne Miller, Genevieve Shivers (sister of Virginia) all of Des Moines.

Theta is represented in the journalism field by Margaret Stone and Lucille Nelson. Margaret is the new Quax editor and Lucille is the feature editor of the Drake Times-delpic. Margaret Woodrow was one of nine girls selected for membership in Margaret Fuller club, oldest study club on the campus.

Martha Winterhoff stage-managed the drama department's production of Dracula. Ada Beth Peaker is one of the soloists in Messiah, to be given before Christmas. Ruth Freed and Marjorie Rock took part in student productions presented in October. Mary Jane Marxer, Martha Winterhoff, and Marjorie Rock were pledged by Zeta Phi Eta, professional dramatic society.

Our annual formal Thanksgiving dinner was on November 22 at the chapter house, under the clever leadership of Cleomary Conte. Those on the program included Ruth Meyer, Ada Beth Peaker, Ruth Jones, Frances Wragg, and Betty Cowles.

We have a new cup on our mantel for having the most clever house decorations during Home-coming. We are proud of it.

LOIS BUMGARDNER

BETA LAMBDA—William and Mary

We concluded a successful rushing season on October 11 by pledging twelve girls: Hope Toulon (sister of Dorothy) Washington, D.C.; Elizabeth Foster (daughter of Helen Houghton Foster, Theta) Marion, Ohio; Nancy Johnson, Katherine Hoover, Plainfield, New Jersey; Ruth Barton, Boston, Massachusetts; Jane Austin, Amarillo, Texas; Kitty Jane Britton, Lansdowne, Pennsylvania; Dorothy Dickie, South Orange, New Jersey; Betty Jane and Virginia Markell, Wheeling, West Virginia; Frances Reeder, Easton, Pennsylvania; and Virginia Martin, Farmville.

Beta Lambda is happy to announce the initiation of Jane Upchurch, Lebanon, Illinois, and Bette Ribble, Mountain Lakes, New Jersey, on October 28.

Home-coming on November 13 brought all kinds of excitement. The week-end began well when Theta lips won the song contest at a rally before the Washington and Lee game. We were glad to have many alumnæ return: Anne Cummings, Anne Bowen, Margaret Wilson, Dorothy Toulon, Helen Simpson, Bertie Fox Courtney, Ellen Latané, Cornelia Land and Mary Parker. On Sunday afternoon we had our usual reception for alumnæ and pledges.

On November 23 the pledges gave a party for the pledges of other women's fraternities on campus.

Panhellenic has instituted a study hall, three nights a week, for all the fraternity pledges who did not make an initiation average on mid-semester grades.

We were glad to have Barbara Lander and Lillian O'Neil, Beta Eta, with us this past week-end.

Elizabeth Jane Cook, Christine Cowan and Cornelia Hoge won events at the Boot and spur club gymkhana, the first one held at William and Mary. Gwen Evans is in the cast of the second play of the year, First lady. Elaine Wooddy has been elected treasurer of the History club, Elizabeth Jane Cook vice president of the Spanish club, and Cornelia Hoge secretary of the Spanish club. Ada Stuart, Bayly Bucher, Elizabeth Jane Cook, Cornelia Hoge, Anne Layton and Jean Clarahan are on the business staff of the yearbook, the Colonial echo.

JEAN CLARAHAN

28 November 1937

Engaged: Dorothy Toulon to Lieut (j.g.) Jerome Frost Smith, Medical Corps, U.S.N.

Born: To Lieut and Mrs John Dice (Anne Spratley) a son.—To Dr and Mrs P. G. Hamlin (Elizabeth Scott) a daughter, Elizabeth Stoddert, on Jan. 19, 1937.

Married: Drusilla N. Davis to James F. Austin, June 19, 1937. Warrenton, Va.

New addresses: Marian Hobbs Smith (Mrs Herbert H.) 48 Salisbury rd. Brookline, Mass.—Sally Pevear, 127 Washington st. Brighton, Mass.—Sarah Dobbs Blanc (Mrs Louis A.) 1829 94th av. Oakland, Calif.

BETA MU—Nevada

We were happy to present District VI's president, Mrs Clarke, and the pledges at our annual tea, held in the lovely rooms of the Twentieth Century club. Mrs Evelyn Reed and Emily Tholl headed the receiving line.

Home-coming was another busy week-end including an alumnæ luncheon, a football game and plenty of hard work on our float and house decoration. At the Home-coming dance we were awarded a beautiful cup for the best house decoration, so our work was not in vain.

Initiation was held October 31 for Marilyn Rhoades, Virginia Beckley, Wilma Jones, Juanita Elcano, Margaret Heitman and Anita Jauregui.

Theta took most of the honors at the "She Jinx," an annual affair held by Delta Delta Delta. For the largest house representation we were awarded a prize. Following the Surrealism theme, Anita Jauregui won first prize for the best costume, with her conception of a window. The active members also won first prize for their skit.

Rosalys Martinez has been elected to Campus Players and the Press club. Frances Cafferata and Mary Catherine Blakely are cooperating with the Red Cross in their annual drive. Their station is at the Riverside hotel.

Exchange dinners and social hours with the various fraternities, a junior-senior buffet supper, and a tea given by the pledges have been social activities of the past month. We are now looking forward to the fall formal, to be held December 3.

ALDENE BRANCH

25 November 1937

Born: To Mr and Mrs James Santini (Euphemia Clark) a son.—To Mr and Mrs Warren W. Davidson (Josephine Bernard) twin daughters.—To Mr and Mrs Bruce Gould (Sally Fagan) a son.—To Mr and Mrs Edward Montgomery (Helene Per Lee) a daughter, Lois.

BETA NU—Florida

Mrs Quillian, District president, was with us from November 10 to 12. Virginia, as she asked us to call her, was lots of fun and gave us many valuable suggestions. On November 10 we entertained with a reception in her honor. It was with many sighs and regrets that we saw her off at the end of her few days' visit, but we hope that we may be able to have her with us again soon.

Chapter and pledges declared a holiday the weekend of November 6 and spent it at Camp Flastacowo. Everybody had a riproaring good time and we all want to do it again.

At the end of the first quarter of this year, Dorothy Barr was tapped for Spirogira, an Odd organization based on a student's outstanding ability and leadership on campus. Lillian Burford was initiated into Theta Kappa, French group, November 30.

The week of Thanksgiving was a big week for us. Ruth Fisher, Pat Campbell, Annie Laurie Sanchez, Dorothy Barr, Geraldine Williams, and Mary Ann McCalla all took part in Odd demonstration. Martha Broyles and Patty Hamilton took part in Even demonstration. Thanksgiving day we held an open house for parents, alumnae, and friends. The pledges entertained us with a skit and sang their goat songs—very good ones. A coffee followed this. The house was literally overflowing with parents for the week-end as well as alumnae and friends. Myrtle Butts had charge of decorations for the Cotillion club dance held November 27 in the gym. Thetas tapped that night for Cotillion club, dance group, were Margaret Roberts, Meredith Rentz, and Frances Kirkland.

Marjorie Horton is captain of the championship Even volleyball team.

Fall initiation was held October 30 for Lorene Hollabird, Sara Frances Blackwell, Martha Broyles, Eleanor Scott, Ruth Williams, Margaret Roberts, Amelia Avant, and Ilma LaBar.

BETTY SPICER

30 November 1937

Married: Mary Huffaker to Leonard F. Blankner, jr. Mar. 21, 1937. 219½ E. Church st. Orlando, Fla.

New addresses: Avis Kent Goodlove (Mrs W. F.) 3437 Shaw av. Cincinnati, Ohio.—Theresa Huffaker Wilson (Mrs C. M.) 705 W. Nevada, Apt. 5, Urbana, Ill.

BETA XI—California at Los Angeles

In the annual women's Hi-jinks, Beta Xi had a well-padded chorus dancing and singing Daisy, Daisy to carry out the theme, the Gay Nineties.

Virginia Barnett, Jane Cooper, Constance Keefe, Katherine Hoffman, Helen Hutchings, and Oral Robertson were initiated October 17. An impressive banquet was held in their honor at the house after initiation.

Home-coming brought honor to Beta Xi even if the home team didn't do so well against our big brother bear from up north. Virginia Black, sophomore, was elected Home-coming Queen, and Mary Cobb was one of her attendants. Incidentally, the honorary Queen from "Cal." was a Theta too. In the parade, our float was a copy of Esquire. The judges didn't think it was as clever as we did, but we were proud of it in spite of their decision. It was Beverly Wright's idea and the plans were executed under her fine direction.

Once again our volleyball team won its way to the semi-finals only to be defeated by Kappa Kappa Gamma. They haven't lost the volleyball cup in seven years. We just can't seem to break their spell. Better luck in the next seven years!

At the Military Ball, Betty Wyatt, president of Guidon, junior auxiliary to Scabbard and Blade, was chosen honorary colonel of our army unit.

Phrateres was entertained at the second of a series of teas November 16 and we feel that both teas have helped to bring about a better spirit of friendliness among women on the campus.

Beta Xi alumnae seemed pleased to be invited to come back to the chapter dinner and meeting November 29. We hope this experiment works out very well, for it will give the alumnae a chance to see what the chapter is doing as well as to renew college friendships.

BETTY GLASS

27 November 1937

Married: Sally Moore to H. G. Barnard, jr. 1905 Riverside, Apt. 11, Tulsa, Okla.

New addresses: Barbara Everett Mason (Mrs John J.) 2249 Linnington av. West Los Angeles, Calif.—Jocelyn Baker Perot (Mrs T. M. III) Flourtown, Pa.—Ruth Heineman McPhail (Mrs Kemp) 10311 Glenbarr av. N.J.—Meryl Stateler Smith (Mrs C. R.) 1115 Maryland, Sherwood, Milwaukee, Wis.

BETA OMICRON—Iowa

The first big thrill we have experienced was the winning of the cup for the best Home-coming decorations. The pledges should receive the praise for their cleverness and great spirit in helping.

Margie Fastenow has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa, an honor of which we are most proud. Margie is also secretary of the senior journalism class. Katherine Wood and Beth Browning were recently elected to Union board subcommittee. Maxine Bowie was a member of the Spinster Spree committee and Beth Browning is to serve on the sophomore cotillion committee. Katherine Wood is vice-president of the women's auxiliary of Pi Epsilon Pi. We also have several other active members of the organization. Beth Browning is secretary of Gavel club, which is made up of undergraduate speakers. Phi Gamma Nu pledged two of our commerce majors, Betty Locker and Katherine Wood. Mary Ann Woodhouse had one of the leading rôles in the opening play of the season, First lady. Critics said she stole the show—we heartily agreed!

The alumnae of Iowa City are now having their monthly meetings at the chapter house. Besides getting better acquainted we are profiting by their guiding advice. The alumnae are giving the pledges a tea on December 5 at the home of Mrs. George Neagle.

Initiation was held October 24 for Barbara Dodsworth, Macomb, Illinois, and Marion Schouten, Keokuk. We pledged Betty Ann Pervis, Des Moines, November 26.

But it's not all work and no play! All the girls have taken an active interest in athletics and we're playing hard for that cup. We won first in the fraternity group in the Volleyball tournament and third in the all-university women's tournament. Margaret Eversmeyer, Marion Jacoby, and Caroline Rifel were admitted to Seals club, swimming group for women. Marion Jacoby is also a member of the university hockey team.

There are two big events on the calendar before vacation. December 10 pledges will entertain the chapter at a Christmas formal, and December 12 we are having a tea for members of the faculty.

BETA PI—Michigan

Both formal and post rushing are over for the term. We now have twenty-four pledges: Peggy Shaw, Marjorie Taylor, Helen Murray, Helen Stouffer (all Theta sisters) Josephine Watson, Helen Cawood, Jane Tremaine, Annette Stuber, Muriel Spittle, Betty-Ann Owens, Sarah Jane Baxter, Alice Godfrey, Bettie Jane Mills, Eleanor Dise, Betty Vyn, Harriet Beecher, Miriam Nickle, Harriet Slaton, Janet Hotchin, Jean Widick, Barbara Winston, Fay Ford, and Suzanne White were pledged on October 4, and Alice Cortright on November 30.

Soon after rushing, invitations went flying home to our fathers for October 23, Dad's day, the first one under our new roof. We all went in proud pairs to the football game, then dined in true Theta style. The dads literally sang their vociferous praise. The mothers were not forgotten; some of them came along too and had dinner together at the union.

A Home-coming football victory preceded the tea which the chapter gave for the alumnae at the chapter house November 13. It was the first time many of them had seen the new house. How proud we are to show it off.

Little slates were at each place at dinner one night announcing the engagement of Frances Marsh and Bill Faust. Fran will not return after Christmas. She is taking time out until spring, when she says she'll expect us all at her wedding.

The Sororian Scholarship plaque was presented this year with Dorothy Garlock's name on it. She had the highest scholarship for last year, is an Art major, and member of Tau Sigma honorary fraternity. Other Thetas having higher than a B average are Dorothy Holcomb, Nancy Farley, Mary Jean Mabie, Dorothy Hasselbring, Johanna Sandham, Jane Shaw, Bette Hatch.

We were very happy to have Lansing alumnae with us for an informal buffet supper. We anxiously anticipated a promised surprise which was a shining gold trophy. This is to be an individual activity award to the member most outstanding in campus activities. Nancy Farley, a senior, is the first one to have her name engraved upon it.

Beverly Bendall and Judith Corrigan were initiated November 19.

MARION RICHARDSON

30 November 1937

Born: To Mr and Mrs Harold Hilty (Dorothy Butler) a son, Robert Butler, Oct. 16, 1937. 922 Sunnyview av. Dayton, Ohio.

Married: Elsie Annette Crowl to Robert Lewis Wood, Aug. 7, 1937. 2710 W. Chicago blvd. Detroit, Mich.—Mary E. Milward to Henry Charles Forster, Jr. Oct. 16. 628 Delaware, Apt. 208, Detroit, Mich.—June Svoboda to Robert A. Stoll, in September. 84½ Cleveland st. Battle Creek, Mich.

New addresses: Norma Robson Lacy (Mrs D. L.) 13 Ardmore rd. West Hartford, Conn.—Virginia Erwin Atkinson (Mrs Warren) 215 Jefferson rd. Pontiac Gen. hospital, Pontiac, Mich.

BETA RHO—Duke

At the end of rush Beta Rho pledged thirteen fine girls: Josephine Bailey, Thomasville, Georgia; Margaret Beggenberger, Shaker Heights, Ohio; Sarah Chase, Patty Clark, Miami Beach, Florida; Thea Conger, Staunton, Virginia; Kate Gantt, Eleanor Southgate (sister of Loula) Durham; Nancy Eff Kirby, Fort Pierce, Florida; Alice Harwood, Park Ridge, Illinois; Dorothy Porritt, Birmingham, Michigan; Mildred Morehead, Pelham Manor, New York; Louise Walter, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; and Martha Glenn, Chicago, Ill. Elizabeth Bowen was pledged November 23.

Following pledging October 10, the chapter entertained at breakfast in the Fountain room of the Washington Duke hotel. This breakfast has become an annual custom, and is always enjoyed by the chapter, town alumnae, and out-of-town guests. This year we welcomed Elizabeth Sasscer, last year's president, and Mrs. M. W. Brewer, Rosanna's mother.

During October the pledges of Pi Beta Phi and Sigma Kappa entertained in honor of Theta's pledges. Mary Duke Biddle gave a lovely dinner for the pledges at her home in Forest Hills October 28.

Home-coming was an occasion for the return of Shirley Teed, Susan Sheppard McGillicuddy, Elizabeth Sasscer, Frances Childs, Georgia Goodson, and Frances Edwards.

Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde was a guest and speaker on our campus October 19 and 20. The student forum committee, headed by Jane Fite, sponsored her talk, which was greatly enjoyed.

Jean Wallace and Joan Bliss were members of the Duke girls' hockey team, which participated in the intercollegiate hockey meet held in Richmond, Virginia, during November.

There will be an informal coffee in the chapter room December 1 for the pledges and their dates. We are all looking forward to December 10, date of the annual pledge dance to be given in the "Ark."

LOULA SOUTHGATE

30 November 1937

Married: Dorothy Peck to Robert L. Gillilan. 7455 Greenview av. Apt. 207, Chicago, Ill.—Mary Louise Bradley to Theos Elwyn Hopper, May 22, 1937. 106 E. Hudson, Shelby, N.C.—Constance Patten to William Coleman Scott, June 26, 1937.

New addresses: Elizabeth Rouse Webb (Mrs Everett A.) 1620 Franklin st. Wilmington, Del.—Susan Hardy Brownell (Mrs George B. jr.) 307 Queen City av. Tuscaloosa, Ala.—Frances Winston Harding (Mrs A. J.) 300 W. 50th st. Minneapolis, Minn.—Lucille B. Gainey, 808 Hay st. Fayetteville, N.C.—Frances Childs, Admiral apts. 48th & Locust sts. Philadelphia, Pa.—Sigrid Pedersen, 115 E. 90th st. New York, N.Y.—Julia Leggett Grant (Mrs T. A.) 1011 Spring Hill rd. Staunton, Va.

Eleanor Tompkins was selected to represent Duke at the intercollegiate meeting in Washington, D. C. This is the first year Duke has been represented.

BETA SIGMA—Southern Methodist

Despite the earliest November snowfall in the history of Dallas, the whirl of Beta Sigma's activities continued uninterrupted, if anything gayer than ever. The initiates gave a picnic for the pledges (previous to the snow) and the pledges retaliated by giving the annual backward dance. Although some of the boys wore flowers in their hair, and one even received an orchid for his shoulder, the majority of them received radishes, cabbage leaves, and carrots for their lapels.

We are very proud of pledges Martha Proctor and Frances Sybert, who debated on our behalf and won the intersorority debate cup. Another pledge, Elaine MacDonald, was initiated on November 11.

With a 22-20 win over Delta Delta Delta in tenniquoits, but failure to bring home the cup, we are eagerly starting basketball practice in anticipation of bigger things.

We want to announce that Geline Young is a Mortar board member this year; Kathryn Shimer has been elected secretary of the junior class; and Sybil Roan, pledge, has been elected secretary of the Y.W.C.A. Freshman club.

Ruth Coit and Jerry Huffington are new members of Psi Chi, psychology group, and Gerry McCoy has just been initiated into Zeta Phi Eta, speech society. Jane McGee is a new member of Sigma Delta Pi, Spanish group, and Ann Hughston is the sponsor of the Y.W.C.A. cabinet.

We enjoyed a brief visit from Laura Eleanor Fisher, District president, and wish she would visit with us more frequently.

Our Theta apartment has gradually taken on a new atmosphere due to the efforts of Margaret Cole, house manager, who constantly has a paint brush in her hand, and has been assisted by other members.

For Christmas we are planning a Christmas tree at the rooms. We are also gathering food and clothing to help make this season brighter for one of Dallas' needy families.

Midterm rushing, too, is uppermost in our minds.

JERRY HUFFINGTON

30 November 1937

Born: To Mr and Mrs Dan M. Bailey (Miriam Nicholas) a daughter, Lynn, Sept. 7.—To Mr and Mrs J. Claude Burton (Ruth Newhouse) a daughter, Jane, Oct. 31, 1936.—To Mr and Mrs Porter Holland, jr. (Frances Anderson) a son, Jon Porter III, Oct. 18.—To Mr and Mrs Smith Reed (Marguerite Buchanan) a daughter, Margaret Annette, Nov. 11, 1936.

Married: Wilmanelle Gladden to R. P. Bergfeld. 402 Highland, Apt. 2, Seminole, Okla.

BETA TAU—Denison

Rushing ended with the pledging of eighteen outstanding girls: Jane Bankhardt, Eleanor Bjelke, Barbara Bookser, Harriet Bowman, Lois Champney, Gladys Cherna, Jane Dorsay, Martha Fergeson, Barbara Finely, Lucille Jeffrey, Marjorie McNeill, Sue Olt, Madeline Rupp, Mary Anne Sears, Dorothy Sharp, Mary Dan Richter, Nancy Wilcox, and Betty Williams (daughter of Dorothy McCann Williams).

On November 14, faculty members and their husbands and wives were entertained at a tea given by the chapter.

At the annual fall formals on November 20, Theta gave a dance in the unique atmosphere of a harvest evening. Our co-chairmen, Jane Bryson and Harriet Crawford, deserve a lot of credit for managing such a delightful dance.

Mrs Banta was with us for one day last month, and we are now looking forward to her return for our Founders'-day banquet in January. Also we are anticipating a visit from our Grand president, Mrs Grasett, sometime in the near future. She will also visit our neighbor chapter, Alpha Gamma.

Beta Tau is this year once again inviting the seniors from one other women's fraternity on the campus to each of our Sunday night suppers.

Janet Shepard, president of W.A.A. has received the honor of being recognized in Who's who in American colleges.

CAROLYN WOLF

29 November 1937

New addresses: Frances Guckert Washington (Mrs J. H.) 1514 Sherbrook rd. South Euclid, Ohio.—Gladys Shreve Owen (Mrs Glen D.) 31 2nd av. Union City, Pa.—Eleanor Seuffert, Main at Walnut, Johnstown, Pa.—Evelyn Cathcart Witmer (Mrs Ira) 22649 Westchester, R.R. 9, Shaker sq. sta. Cleveland, Ohio.—Martha Miller Lee (Mrs E. Jack) 1 Rennel dr. Hyde Park, Cincinnati, Ohio.

BETA UPSILON—British Columbia

This fall we pledged Moira Bremner, Mona Hunter, Beverly McCorkell and Kathleen Sellens. After the ceremony doughnuts and coffee were served. On Monday, November 5, we gave the pledges a mixing party in the form of a barn dance. It was held at Brighthouse, and everybody dressed up in overalls and straw hats. The clubhouse was decorated with hay, corn stalks, vegetables, milkcans and rakes. Everybody seemed to enjoy it thoroughly.

Two weeks later, on the 19th, the pledges gave the college chapter a party. It was called "Wallflower's Delight." No one knew who her escort was to be until he called for her. We learned one thing about the pledges—you can't pry a secret out of them. Nobody was able to find out just who was to be at the party. We also learned one other thing—they know how to give a successful party.

On November 21 the pledges were initiated at Margot Martin's. Coffee and cookies were served after.

Morva Longfellow is vice president of the Women's undergraduate society; Marion Vance is vice president of her class; Polly Brand is women's athletic representative for her class; Eleanor Gibson is student director of one of the Christmas plays and secretary of the Letters club; Kathleen Sellens is vice president of the Badminton club, and Joanne Brown is secretary of the Basketball club and of the German club.

JOANNE BROWN

25 November 1937

Born: To Mr and Mrs A. M. McGanin (Beatrice Bell) a son, July 29, 1937.

New addresses: Helen Westby, 4184 Cypress st. Vancouver, B.C. Can.—Mrs George Armstrong (Audrey Roberts) Merritt, B.C. Can.—Mrs Robert MacDonald (Molly Eakins) Queens ct. New Westminster, B.C. Can.—Lorena York Fleming, 204 Angus apts. 1531 Davie st. Vancouver, B.C. Can.

BETA PHI—Penn State

Things are beginning to swing along at last concerning rushing. Now that many of you have come through so successfully you can sit back and watch your sisters in their retarded process. A tea for transfers was the first party held in October. Since an increasing number of girls is transferring to Penn State every year, our house was jammed at this party. The upperclassmen were next in entertaining their "little sisters." Our most recent parties have been in the form of three open houses during November. All of the fraternities had parties at the same time. Freshmen were allowed to attend each house only half an hour and were requested to go to as many different houses as possible. Our last party was especially fun; it was called a Pilgrim's Progress. Each girl was given a string which she followed up and down stairs through many rooms, only to end up behind a chair or on top of the piano with a small Indian favor made of pipe cleaners. A real Puritan sat at the head of the table and poured the coffee, while pumpkin pie and Thanksgiving decorations added atmosphere to the party. Now that our introductions to the freshmen have been completed, we are ready to go into rushing with zest. Panhellenic has ruled a twenty dollar blanket fee from every fraternity during formal rushing period, which lasts from December 1 to February 1. This fee does not include the final party.

A breakfast for the alumnae, our annual affair at Home-coming week-end, was attended better than ever before, and we were tickled to death to see so many girls back, though we were a bit crowded for room.

Delta Tau Delta held a dinner in our honor the first of November in appreciation of the help rendered them by several of our girls during men's rushing season.

We have decided it is high time to do something about refurnishing several of our most used rooms. On November 8 an interior decorator called to make plans for the rooms. We expect to have the new furniture installed by the first of December and will tell you more about it later.

And now comes time for our last and best announcement. Mrs Sinclair, Grand vice president, was our visitor for two days in October. Her visit was one to which we had been looking forward for several years. A schedule was arranged in order that each one of us should have an opportunity to get acquainted with her, and when it was over we all had the same story to tell. A brief introduction has been enough to create the feeling that she was an old friend returning to ask interestedly about all of us. There were so many requests for her by leading campus organizations that we had a hard time keeping her home long enough to display our own social talents.

Amy McClelland is president of W.S.G.A. this year. Betty Long is junior senator, and Peggy Jones is sophomore senator and head of customs for freshmen women. Georgia Powers, house president, is secretary of Panhellenic, while Jane Curtin is Theta's other representative. In Cwens, sophomore activities honorary, Theta is well represented, with Jane Kistler as president, Marnie Collins as secretary, Barbara Fleming as treasurer, and Jane Eames, Peggy Scheaffer, and Peggy Jones members. Amy McClelland, Christine Hoffer, and Eleanor Saunders are members of Mortar board.

Georgia Powers is assistant women's editor of the bi-weekly college newspaper, and Eleanor Saunders is a member of the La Vie staff which edits the year book. Louise Evans is a member of the House of Representatives.

Hermione Hunt was recently elected to Pi Gamma Mu, social science group. Eleanor Saunders and Jane Eames had charge of properties in the two Players' shows, First lady and Androcles and the lion. Meanwhile Helen Anderson was personnel manager of the Thespian show, Say it with music, in which Peggy Scheaffer, Barbara Fleming and Barbara Welles danced.

HERMIONE H. HUNT

23 November 1937

Married: Grace Baer to Kenneth Holderman, Φ Γ Δ, Aug. 22, 1937.—Dorothy Cummings to Arthur Griner, Oct. 23.—Anna Frances Turner to Ensign John Nevin Shaffer, U.S.N. June 9, 1937. 1140 E. 3rd st. Long Beach, Calif.

Dorothy Cummings attended the Bayreuth and Salzburg music festivals in Europe during the summer.

Mary McFarland Frew will work for her doctor's degree in psychology at Merrill-Palmer, Detroit, Mich.

BETA CHI—Alberta

This time of year our campus looks lovely with its covering of snow, and although it has put an end to hikes and rugby games, skiing, tobogganing, skating and sleighing parties have taken their place.

Rushing was most successful and included some novel parties, a progressive dinner at the homes of Julia Tuttle, Georgie and Norma Smith, Margaret Howson and Doreen Kavanagh, and a hay-ride to the river bank. We are proud to announce the pledging of Irma Ellert, Milk River; Gwen Robinson, Lelia Scott, Vermilion; Catherine Smith (sister of Mary Smith Healy) Taber; Frances Van Kleeck (sister of Barbara) Armstrong, British Columbia; Ruth Hobeck and Leslie Lockerbie, Edmonton. In their honor we had an informal party at the Theta house, and pledge week ended with a Theta-Delta Upsilon hike and bonfire.

Thetas securing honors in the class elections are Catherine Smith and Frances Van Kleeck in the freshman executive; Barbara Van Kleeck and Marion Williams in the senior executive.

Interfraternity basketball has only just begun but we are hoping to see the Theta team make a good showing.

We regret that Mrs Sinclair was unable to visit us in November but we are looking forward to having her with us in the near future.

MARION WILLIAMS

26 November 1937

Married: Ina Nesbitt, charter member of Beta Chi, to William Begg, Nov. 27. Suite 2, 10811 100th av. Edmonton, Alta. Can.—Mary L. Barker to James Calder, Sept. 24. Suite 3, Whitmore apts. 10946 84th av. Edmonton, Alta. Can.

Engaged: Nancy French to Robert Eric Davies, Berwyn, Alta.

Born: To Mr and Mrs H. Slater (Molly Buchanan) a daughter.

New addresses: Beatrice Anderson Freeze (Mrs Donald) 9620 105th st. Edmonton, Alta.—Grace Welch Clark (Mrs Charlie) High River, Alta. Can.—Bessie Welch, MacLeod, Alta. Can.

Doreen Clapperton and Virginia Cook are studying at the University of Toronto. Flora McLeod is teaching at St. Hilda's College, Calgary. Gay Ross is teaching at Clairsholm, and Elizabeth Grisdale is teaching at Cardston.

BETA PSI—McGill

Fall term found Beta Psi busy making curtains, hanging pictures, purchasing new furniture and repainting the old, all the while glowing with the excitement of settling a new chapter house. It was a wild scramble to have everything ready for rushing, but October 17 found us surprisingly well composed. At our first At Home we welcomed Doreen Clapperton from Beta Chi and Sigma, and Mary Bell from Sigma.

Lunches, teas, progressive dinner and Kite Nite club rewarded us beyond our loftiest expectations with 18 pledges. We are happy to present Norma Bonter, Cathleen Chard, Winnifred Dundas, Elizabeth Dias, Florence Flynn, Grace Hamlyn, Dorothy Kydd, Grace Madill, Dorothy Pugh, Rita Ridge, Kathleen Rochester, and Enid Sprott, Montreal; Virginia Balko, Shawinigan Falls; Doris Banfell, East Angus; Barbara Black, Moosejaw; Mercy Kellogg, New York; Dorothy McCaig, Calgary; and Ruth Paine, Kenogami.

On October 27 the chapter entertained the pledges at dinner; and November 19 found us dining and dancing at the pledge formal held in the Berkeley hotel. On October 25 Beta Psi gave a farewell tea in honor of Mrs Kircher, who is moving to New Mexico, and who has been a beloved friend and indispensable helper and adviser to the chapter ever since its installation in 1932. She presented to the chapter a beautiful ring bearing the Theta insignia, which will be awarded annually to a member of the graduating class. This year it goes to Agnes Tennant, who holds the highest average in scholarship, achievement, and service to the fraternity.

The following week was likewise a busy one. We entertained at a mothers' tea; the pledges were at home to pledges of other fraternities; and the chapter gave a party for alumnae and pledges, giving them an opportunity to become acquainted.

Mary Scott, Helen Kydd, Dorothy Kydd, and Enid Sprott took part in the Glee club's radio debut November 17. This year we are continuing to give professors' teas, which have proved so popular in the past, and on November 26 we entertained four professors and their wives.

Sigma and Beta Psi have been exchanging hospitality lately on the occasion of the two Varsity-McGill football games.

AUDREY MARTIN

27 November 1937

New addresses: Kathleen Marsh, 4947 MacDonald av. N.D. G. Montreal, Que. Can.

BETA OMEGA—Colorado College

We have really been doing the old campus up right . . . what with Home-coming and our pledge dance, there has never been a dull moment. For our Home-coming float we won honorable mention. The float was effective and clever, and the girls who rode on it (along with a couple of dozen chickens) really had a hilarious time keeping track of our feathered friends . . . just in case we made any profit! The cab was a chicken-coop in disguise, and Jane Ann Gassman, and Marge Jones were our little farmerettes. A huge sign with "New Mex. we're laying for you" portrayed the main idea, and we were especially glad that not more than three of the precious eggs (which we had rented) were broken!

Our pledge dance was, in the opinion of all, a huge success. The house was beautifully decorated. False ceilings were artistically arranged, and the entire house was lighted by candlelight. The crowning point was a huge pledge pin, opposite the fireplace, outlined with gold lights, and the girls put quite a bit of thought and time into the creation of dance programs, which also were in the shape of a pledge pin.

Informal dinners every two weeks at our student union building are a source of great delight to all the girls. We are looking forward with anticipation to our Christmas dance, which will bring this semester to a gala close.

KATHRYN MAC LEAN

25 November 1937

Married: Mary Ann McBride to Charles Winfred Kurie III.

Born: To Mr and Mrs A. L. Linger (Genevieve Vanderhoof) a son, George David.

New addresses: Helen V. Knowles, 1325 S. College, Ft. Collins, Colo.—Dorliska Crandall Hannan (Mrs W. S.) E. Capital av. Pierre, S.D.—Frances H. Sims, 293 W. Grand View, Sierra Madre, Calif.—Lorraine Moody Harris (Mrs Richard A.) 2017 N. Nevada av. Colorado Springs, Colo.—Adele Campbell Smith (Mrs J. A.) 826 E. 10th st. Pueblo, Colo.—Margaret Ann Swetland Nollenberger (Mrs W. E.) 1945 Holly, Denver, Colo.

GAMMA GAMMA—Rollins

Gamma Gamma pledged seven girls on October 31: Pollyanna Young, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; Virginia Morgan (sister of Victoria) Clearwater; Frances Jones (sister of Virginia, Gamma Gamma and Marjorie, Alpha Tau) Cincinnati, Ohio; Sara Tyler, Caspar, Wyoming; Margaret Modine, Racine, Wisconsin; Betty Brock, Washington Court House, Ohio; and June Reinhold, Jacksonville. Marcia Stoddard and Harriet Begole made for the occasion a huge black and gold Theta kite which we flew over the campus.

On the first Honors day of the year, it was announced that Carl Good had been chosen as a member of Phi society, freshman scholastic society. The scholastic standing of all men's and women's fraternities was also announced and Theta was second on the list.

At the fall student elections Betty Myers was elected vice president of the upper division. Betty is also a member of the student-faculty discipline committee.

Mrs Quillian arrived November 13 for an all too short visit. She was our guest of honor at an informal tea during her stay. We certainly enjoyed her visit and regretted that she could not be with us longer.

Mary Acher has a part in She passed through Lorraine, first student play this year, to be given in December.

The first intramural sport of the year is basketball and with only two more games to go our team is as yet undefeated.

FAY CHRISTY BIGELOW

29 November 1937

Married: Virginia Jones to Tom Hill, Nov. 27.
—Louise McPherson to Olcott H. Deming. Redding Ridge, Conn.

GAMMA DELTA—Georgia

This time last year there were very few kites in the state of Georgia, but plenty of people anxious and waiting to fly them. Wish you could see us now! We act, look, and fly kites like unto veteran Thetas—at least we think we do. Even our new home looks exactly as if it were born, not made, a Theta house. It's a "cozy little chapter house," "couch beside the fire" and everything.

Our District president Virginia Quillian is coming this week. We like to think of her as one of Gamma Delta's own, because she has had such a vital part in our life—even in our being born.

We have entered all the intramural athletic and literary events, and are now in the finals of the volley ball tournament. Eleanor Maddox, pledge, has been elected vice president of Student government. Alma Quillian has been elected to Theta Sigma Phi, professional journalism group. Marion Ehrhardt has been elected secretary of the University women's council, organization composed of outstanding students. Oh! we have another pledge, too—Doris Swinkey from Chattanooga, Tennessee.

We have been having a series of parties for our pledges; teas, buffet suppers, steak suppers, breakfasts, tea dances, and all those things that make the world go round more delightfully.

VIRGINIA BARFIELD

30 November 1937

GAMMA EPSILON—Western Ontario

The most important thing in the lives of students at Western just now is the fact that we lost the rugby championship by such a narrow margin that it is hard to bear. Queens won this year, but we were in the running at least.

We hope you liked the pictures of our university. It is a beautiful campus, large and well kept. Margaret Homuth, sub-prefect, and the women's organization are working tooth and nail for a women's union building, which does not seem so improbable now. Jean Lemon and her group did their bit at the Toronto game, selling more hot dogs than had ever been sold before.

Gamma Epsilon has had its first tea dance. It was held after the Queens game and was an outstanding success. We have been doing other entertaining as well. There have been several freshette teas, the Dean of women has dined with us and we were happy to welcome Margaret Mitchell and Wynn Brown, Toronto Thetas, for the week-end of the Toronto game.

Panhellenic has been active this year. Bethea McGill was chosen as president and we were all proud of her at the Panhellenic banquet. Interfraternity relations have been strengthened by two interfraternity teas, one at Pi Beta Phi and the other at Gamma Phi Beta. The men's fraternities were invited too!

Plans for initiation of the pledges on December 4 are well under way now. Gamma Epsilon is slightly apprehensive. However, the flying visit we had from Mrs Sinclair, Grand vice president, on November 1, strengthened and encouraged us. Also, we are looking forward to having Mrs French, District president, with us on that important day.

College activities are crowding everyone now. Examinations are not until January, but before that we have the rugby dance, with Verta Kenerson on the committee, the year plays, with Frances Powell directing the sophomore entry, and a really exciting Christmas party.

At Skitter night, the women's night, when the groups present skits to a strictly feminine audience, Jean Lemon's and Shirley Messer's groups won the cup.

JEAN FERGUSON

30 November 1937

Lydia Trimble, Ruth Davis, Evelyn Steer, Margaret Tape and Jean MacKenzie are in Toronto this year attending the Ontario College of education. Their address is 513 Huron st. Toronto, Ont.

Helen Timpany is completing her course at the Institute of public health, London, and Dot Timpany is interning at St Joseph's hospital, Hamilton.

Jean Marshall is taking a business course at the Westervelt Business college and Dorothy Geoghegan is at the university for a special secretarial course. Both are in London.

"ON THE WAY TO CONVENTION"

Life Memberships

How Portland Alumnae Chapter Campaigned for Tripled Membership

THE Life membership campaign has become a most important and vital force in Portland alumnae chapter of Kappa Alpha Theta. Never before have so many members responded so whole-heartedly to a single cause. The drive has not only tripled membership, but has had other worthwhile results.

It would be quite fair to give most of the credit for our enthusiastic response to the work of Louise Corbin Grondahl, charming vice-president. Louise always has been active in civic welfare organizations in Portland. However, we believe her real talent lies in drives, for Theta's Life membership drive is only one of many successful ones she has conducted.

In 1935, we had twenty-five members who paid alumnae dues; in 1936, we had twenty-six; and in 1937 we have 71 pledged to Life membership, and the year isn't over yet! The method? An ingenious one!

Twenty Portland alumnae were invited to tea, a lovely tea. Soon we learned this wasn't just an ordinary tea, but one with a special purpose—the purpose of explaining just what life membership in Kappa Alpha Theta means. After a short time, Louise had created twenty firm believers in the true values of life membership. It was now up to us to convince the other one-hundred-and-eighty Theta alumnae. But how?

Each of us selected ten friends to contact. Teas were suggested as the most enjoyable, as well as the most effective method of contact. However, personal calls seemed advisable in some cases. No phone calls were allowed. Every one hasn't been contacted as yet, but every Theta alumna in Portland will have her opportunity to pledge before the year is over. The teas that have been given, and the personal contacts that have been made, have knitted our chapter into a closer, more social organization.

A card was made out for every name in the chapter file. On one side is name, address and phone number; on the other, an explanation of the terms for payment. We found that many could not afford $5 at one time, and, although we did not have national's sanction, we divided the pledge into $2.50 payable before October 1, and $2.50 payable before February 1 of the following year. However, the $20 can be paid in full, or over a period of four years. The preference for method of payment is checked and the card signed by the person pledging. If for any reason an alumna fails to subscribe, her attitude is stated under remarks on the face of her card. Thus we will have an accurate reaction from the whole group.

Rushing

A thorough discussion of rushing resulted in the formulation of the following attitude: There is no widespread concern that a freshman will make a mistake in selecting his fraternity; no one shall be pledged before his arrival for matriculation, but pledging should not be deferred beyond the first week of the college year; spring and summer rushing should be encouraged; initiation should not take place before the pledge has completed his first term in college; invitations to membership should be extended personally, experience with preferential systems having disproved their worth; except in unusual cases, it is preferable to avoid strict regulation of the number of pledges a chapter may have, the type and expense of rushing and entertainment; it is better not to charge rushees for their entertainment.—I.F.C. Nov. 1937.

KAPPA ALPHA THETA LOAN AND FELLOWSHIP COMMITTEE

Board of Directors

New York	Fellowship
Pittsburgh	Research
Indianapolis	Publicity
Spokane	Ways and Means
Nashville	Ways and Means
Los Angeles	Undergraduate Loans Chairman

Los Angeles Committee:

Chairman: Grace W. Lavayea, 836 South Irolo st. Los Angeles, Calif.

Secretary: Helen Pratt, 1257 4th av. Los Angeles, Calif.

Financial Secretary: Ray Hanna, 216 S. Manhattan pl. Los Angeles, Calif.

Procedure for application. For information and application blanks, for undergraduate loans, write the corresponding secretary, Miss Helen Pratt, 1257 4th av. Los Angeles, Calif. A clear statement concerning needs, activities, health, scholarship, amount desired, and prospects for repayment will aid the committee in consideration of an application. Letters of recommendation from the chapter president and from an alumna adviser are requested. Loans are made for $50 and larger amounts. Interest is 4 per cent payable annually. Endorsement of note of beneficiary by two financially responsible parties, preferably Thetas, is required. Each applicant is considered as a special case. Money is available for loans. Applications will be accepted from graduate students as well as undergraduates.

All checks for gifts to the Fund should be made payable to Los Angeles alumnae of Kappa Alpha Theta and sent to the financial secretary, Miss Ray Hanna, 216 S. Manhattan pl. Los Angeles, Calif.

A contribution to this Fund is a gift in perpetuity. The Fund is constantly revolving; it is never spent. Fellowships are maintained only by accrued interest on principal. The Loan and fellowship committee endeavors to meet the pressing financial needs of undergraduate Thetas. Without assistance, many Thetas could not obtain their degrees which will increase their earning capacity. Resources within ourselves, developed by education, are of supreme importance in this present reorganization of society. Donors to this Fund are meeting the national challenge for the maintenance of educational standards. They are participating in a creative program, so vital to our fraternity, community, and nation.

If you want money, we have it.

COLUMBIA YARNS

Now you can knit your dresses, sweaters, suits, by a pattern, exactly as you would sew a cloth one. Improves your skill, too.

SIZE _____ STYLE _____ FIT _____

You can choose from the Columbia Fashion books the style you prefer and order in standard sizes. You will have before you on heavy paper a clear picture of the garment you are making, a diagram with every stitch indicated so that all fashion features can be undertaken with assurance by even the inexperienced knitters. Directions are printed right on the pattern, with arrows showing just where and why to increase or decrease. You can fit your knitting to the diagram as you go along, and when you have finished, you can use the pattern for blocking the garment since the diagram shows the exact blocking stretch allowance.

All Columbia products, supplies order through your college chapter or local alumnae chapter.

PRIDE OF POSSESSION

We all have prized possessions—some intangible like moments of happiness or adventure shared with a beloved companion; others, tokens of happy associations—a gift, a ring, or a BADGE—symbols of friendship and common purpose.

Let your BADGE, set with precious jewels, express all that wealth of fraternity fellowship which enriches life immeasurably. Wear it proudly as a prized and cherished possession.
